Harald Marienfeldt steps from a helicopter at a Navy base in Bermuda, after his rescue by the Liberian freighter Royal Eagle. The bearded seaman was the sole survivor of his stricken cargo ship.

Adrift in the Devil's Triangle, he had just one goal . . .

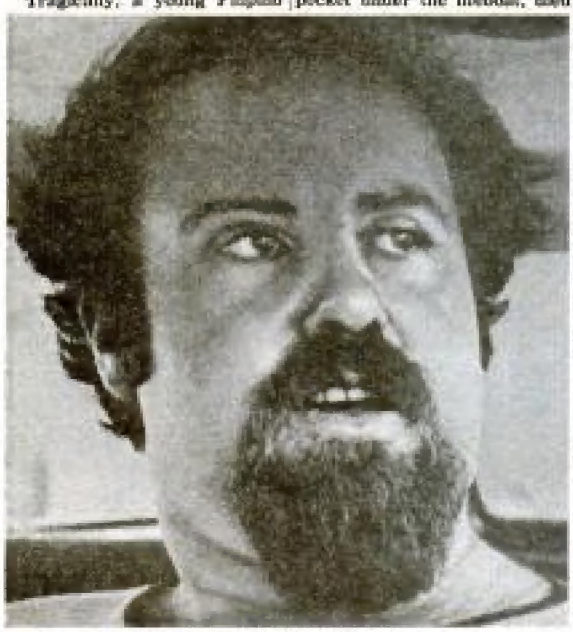
SURVIVAL!

By DICK DONOVAN

Haunted by the violent death of 23 shipmates, seaman Harald Marienfeldt endured 26 terrifying hours lashed to an overturned lifeboat in the storm-swept Devil's Triangle.

The 29-year-old West German was the only survivor from the 450-foot freighter Elma Tres which sank in a violent Atlantic storm off Bermuda.

Tragically, a young Filipino crewman, who was too scared to swim to the surface from an air-pocket under the lifeboat, died minutes before Marienfeldt was rescued.



It is given to some men to look into hell, and then have the chance to be reborn. Harald Marienfeldt says this happened to him.

"It is really wonderful to be alive," the bearded seaman told The NEWS from his room in Bermuda's King Edward VII Hospital. "I was thinking about dying . . . I was thinking, 'What are you going to do if you die here in the sea?

" 'You will go into the water, where the sharks will take you, or you will die on the lifeboat and the sea gulls will get you.' Now, I am born a second time. This is my second life!"

Throughout his harrowing ordeal, Marienfeldt struggled desperately to maintain his precarious perch on the lifeboat as it heaved and pitched in the deadly grip of screaming wind and raging sea.

He was constantly stalked by 10-foot sharks which circled the lifeboat, patiently waiting for him to lose consciousness and slip into the sea.

"The sharks were so close to the lifeboat I could touch them if I reached down," he said. "I was thinking, 'Don't fall off or you're a dead man.' "

The Elma Tres was carrying a cargo of fruit, wood and leather and was bound from Argentina to Boston, Mass., when it was pounded unmercifully by mountainous 30-foot seas and 90 m.p.h. hurricane-force winds 215 miles off Bermuda.

Marienfeldt, dressed in only jeans, a tee-shirt and his life jacket, was on deck the morning the freighter had a total electrical failure, causing an engine and steering shutdown.

Within minutes, the Elma Tres' deck cargo broke loose, sending the freighter over on her port side.

Tons of seawater poured into the now helpless freighter, and crewmen battled heroically to lower the lifeboats — but they were empty when the big ship finally plunged under the surface.

The Filipino died under the boat, alone in the dark

Marienfeldt was hurled into the sea and pulled down by suction as the freighter went to the bottom. After what seemed an eternity, he managed to struggle to the surface. Whispering a prayer of thanks, he struck out for an overturned lifeboat he saw floating nearby.

"The waves were so high, I could see the lifeboat for only a few moments at a time," he said. "I knew I had to reach it."

As he clawed his way onto the water-slicked hull, Marienfeldt saw the ship's bosun sprawled across a wooden hatch cover.

Marienfeldt pleaded with his shipmate to join him on the lifeboat, but the bosun stubbornly refused. That refusal cost the man his life.

"Then I heard a noise from inside the overturned lifeboat," Marienfeldt said. "I took off my life jacket and dived under the boat. I found the Filipino seaman, but he refused to come out.

"Then night was coming and he told me he was hungry and thirsty. I said I was, too."

Marienfeldt finally had to surface and relash himself to the lifeboat hull. The following day, minutes before the Liberian ship Royal Eagle spotted the lifeboat pitching in the gray sea, he called out to the Filipino — but the man was already dying.

"He made these noises . . . strange noises, and that was the last thing I heard," he said. "He must have died down there, alone in the dark.

"Minutes later I was rescued."

Dreadful

Natalie Wood is the fourth cast

By KITTY MacNAB

A bizarre death curse seems to be stalking the stars of the famed '50s cult movie "Rebel Without a Cause" — and screen beauty Natalie Wood was its latest victim.

Incredibly, four of the six young stars who shot to stardom in the 1954 classic about troubled teens met bizarre and violent deaths. They include:

• Miss Wood who drowned after she apparently slipped and plunged into the ocean while trying to board a dinghy from her yacht. Dressed in a nightgown, she mysteriously decided to take a midnight boat ride after she had witnessed an upsetting argument between her handsome husband Robert Wagner and fellow actor Christopher Walken.

● James Dean, who died in a horrific auto wreck in 1955 while driving his sports car to a race. He was 24.

● Nick Adams, star of the western series "The Rebel," who died of a drug overdose at his home in 1968. He was 36.

● Sal Mineo, stage and screen star, who was found stabbed to death on a sidewalk near his Hollywood apartment in 1976 at age 37. Police said he was the victim of a robbery.

The young "Rebel" stars — Natalie was just 17 — were typical examples of bored Hollywood youths when they joined together to film the movie.

Offscreen, Natalie and the others followed the brilliant, unstable Dean and became real-life rebels, challenging death at every turn as they sought to live life to the fullest.

Natalie told writer William Goldman, author of the new book "Elvis," how she was swept into the wild world of Dean and his thrill-seeking Hollywood hellions and their suicidal way of life.

"They were gods," she said. "I wanted to be like them. We used to talk about how unhappy we were, and whoever came closest to suicide the night before — he was the winner."

Only actor Dennis Hopper, who later starred in another cult movie, the '70s drug and motorcycle film "Easy Rider," and acting teacher Corey Allen still remain of the young "Rebel" cast.

Hopper, 45, who was Miss Wood's boyfriend at the time and later introduced her to Elvis Presley, is baffled by the strange deaths of his "Rebel" costars.

"It's very strange the way they have all died," he told The NEWS. "James Dean was killed in the car crash just days before 'Rebel' was released. He never lived to hear the acclaim the movie brought him.

"Sal was murdered. Nick was murdered. Someone gave him an enema of an anti-drinking drug.

"It made you sick if you took alcohol. But Nick didn't drink and he didn't take drugs."

Incredibly, Hopper says the late actress Jayne Mansfield was another of the young "rebels" to die a violent, untimely death. Miss Mansfield was killed in a bloody wreck in 1967 when her auto crashed into a tractor-trailer truck. She was only 35.

Hopper was the male actor who made screen tests with Natalie and Jayne, both of whom were fighting for the female lead in "Rebel."

"I really can't explain why they all died the way they did," said Hopper. "I only know I'm a survivor. I won't let it get to me."

Was the film "Rebel Without a Cause" cursed? And if so, has the curse now run its course? Unhappily, only time will tell.

The blood-splashed wreckage of Dean's car rests in a garage, above. At right is Nick Adams, another "Rebel" star who died a violent death. Dennis Hopper claims the actor was murdered.

Retired teacher Maxine Vincent, 73, sits in the cockpit of her DeLorean speedster — a car she's too frightened to own! "I guess the best thing for me to do is sell it."

Sports car winner is too scared to drive it

Retired teacher Maxine Vincent was the big winner of a nationwide contest. But she was too frightened to accept the top prize — a $26,500 sports car!

By DICK DONOVAN

"I'm too scared!" the 73-year-old Glendale, Ariz., woman told contest officials when they tried to hand her the keys to a gleaming imported DeLorean speedster.

"I don't want to get rid of it," she told The NEWS. "But I just learned to drive 18 years ago. Cost me about $400.

"My house is mortgaged to the hilt. So, I guess the best thing for me to do is sell it. I could really use all that money."

Maxine has been entering contests since she was a teenager and said since she retired, she spends all her time entering as many as she can.

This year alone, she has won a diamond necklace and 500 pounds of ham. The stainless-steel-bodied DeLorean, though, is her first big score in a national contest.

When she was told that she had won the car, she drove to the Kemp Biddulph DeLorean dealership in an aging, sometimes hesitant Ford Pinto — a car she won in a contest 10 years ago!

"I was notified by Penthouse magazine — the organization that awarded the prize," she explained. "They also awarded me another prize — a trip to Ireland.

Jack C. Rakes, director of western operations for the DeLorean auto firm, said 1,600 of the incredibly beautiful — and expensive — cars have been sold in the United States. Another several thousand are on back order and desperate buyers, eager to get behind the wheel of the gull-winged beauties, are offering shocking bonuses for delivery.

"I heard that someone has offered $40,000," he said, adding that a $10,000 bonus offer isn't unusual.

He said DeLorean expects to have 6,000 cars in the country by the end of the year.

"I surely hope Mr. DeLorean makes a go of it with his nice car," Maxine said. "But, right now, I am more concerned about my Pinto."

"Not only does it keep you as warm as toast all night, in the morning it pops you out of bed."

Honest kids find $1,300 in buried cash — then find couple who lost it

Four incredibly honest kids found $1,300 in cash buried on the beach — then amazingly tracked down the owners and returned every penny!

In a display of honesty that would make any parent proud, young Kim and Kris Kyling and Darrell and Jamie Anderson didn't hesitate when they found the buried stash of greenbacks.

They immediately began looking for a clue to the whereabouts of the rightful owner.

"The money was wrapped in an envelope underneath a little bit of sand," 12-year-old Kim said. "It was clean like all the bills had been put through the washer."

Luckily, the children found a shriveled fishing license with a woman's name on it stuffed between the bills.

The four quick-thinking kids traced an astonished woman and her husband, who had lost the money when their boat capsized.

"He told us he had kissed the money goodby," said Billie Anderson, proud mom of Darrell and Jamie.

"Right from the start they (the children) were as anxious as we were to find out whose money it was."

The La Marque, Tex., kids were given $100 each for their honesty by the grateful Houston, Tex., couple.

Woman jogger has thugs on the run

A gutsy woman jogger became so furious when a would-be bank bandit slugged her — that she incredibly foiled the robbery by chasing the shocked thugs down the street.

Marie Barnes was taking an early morning run when she spotted the criminals breaking into a savings and loan office.

As she approached the men, one of the bad guys spun around — and walloped the shocked young woman.

"He knocked me for a loop right in the head," the still enraged woman said.

Determined to get in a few licks of her own, the pretty miss chased the men down the street, screaming at the top of her lungs for the police.

She finally caught up with one of the crooks, but was slapped to the concrete again.

"I was going to beat him up. I may not be big, but I'm strong. And I'm not scared of stuff like that," the courageous young lady said while giving the San Bernardino, Calif., cops a description of the hoodlums.

Kitty lovers kill cruel cat calendar

Cat lovers can purr a sigh of relief — the 1982 Cat Hater's Calendar is now just so much kitty litter.

The cruel calendar raised the hair on the backs of cat owners all over with some gruesome pictures of kitties being hanged — and even wrapped in foil for cooking!

The Cincinnati, Ohio, company that produced the joke calendars was stunned by the incredible howl raised by kitty lovers.

Production of the vicious novelties was stopped immediately.

Man leaves $100G to President Reagan

In an incredible gesture of goodwill, an 85-year-old man left his life savings of $100,000 to President Ronald Reagan.

In the amazing will, Norman Sobel, of New York, said the money should be used to "improve mankind's lot."

"He was an old-fashioned guy who believed in people and humanity. He felt if he left this money to the President of the United States, it would benefit mankind," Sobel's lawyer said.

The astonishing little car comes equipped with an automatic navigation system similar to the ones used in airplanes.

You simply slip a special plastic map card of your route into the dashboard unit. If you make a wrong turn, the computer instantly flashes the error on a small screen!

German measles on way out, report says

German measles — the cruel disease that can cause severe birth defects — will soon be a thing of the past in the United States, confident scientists report.

The disease is particularly dangerous in pregnant women — they can pass on the illness to the unborn child as congenital rubella syndrome, a leading cause of horrendous birth defects.

Record low levels of the cruel disease are the result of a nationwide measles immunization program, officials said.

And the National Center of Disease Control said the disease should be totally eliminated in the U.S. by October 1982.

'My favorite Christmas...'

Loni Anderson's favorite Christmas was the very first one she celebrated with her brand-new daughter, Deidra.

Safety pins made Phyllis Diller's holiday memorable.

A new son highlighted Lloyd Bridges' favorite Christmas.

Top stars tell their fondest holiday memories

The holiday season is a warm, happy time for everyone including Hollywood stars who tell about that one special Christmas they will never forget.

"WKRP in Cincinnati" lovely Loni Anderson's very favorite Christmas was 15 years ago shortly after the birth of her daughter, Deidra.

"She was only 9 months old and I was divorced and living with my parents in Minneapolis, Minn.," recalled Loni.

"My mom made Deidra a Santa Claus outfit. We baked cakes and cookies, fixed ham and turkey and all the trimmings and invited all our friends for a celebration.

"It was a wonderful success and DeeDee was the hit of the party in her Santa's gown.

"That Christmas established a tradition in our family in that Deidra dresses up in a Santa's hat and coat and passes out the presents for the family."

Actor Lloyd Bridges' favorite Christmas was 40 years ago and was a proud day for a proud new father.

"It was 1941 when my son Beau was born," he said. "He and his mother came home from the hospital on Christmas Day. That was a Christmas present that money can't buy."

Zany Phyllis Diller remembers a Christmas during the Depression when a simple gift made her happy.

"On this particular Christmas, I'd been told that I wouldn't be getting an expensive present," she said.

"So I asked for safety pins. I wanted pins because I liked designing things and then wearing my creations. Instead of stitching them — I'd use pins."

Former "Happy Days" star Ron Howard's favorite holiday memory was the Christmas he arranged a special surprise for his dad.

"In 1974, we told my father he was getting a big present and we weren't sure how we would wrap it and put it under the tree," he said.

Ron Howard remembers the big surprise he gave his dad.

Karl Malden treated his wife to a holiday lunch of hot dogs.

"I had talked my grandfather into flying in from Kansas for a surprise reunion with my dad.

"On Christmas Eve, my mother picked up granddad at the airport. Along about 11:30 p.m., there was a knock at the door, my father opened it — and there was granddad.

"It was the happiest moment of my life seeing my father and grandfather having that wonderful surprise reunion.

"It taught me that nothing is more important than family."

Veteran actor Karl Malden, star of "Streets of San Francisco," remembers a simple Christmas when he was newly married and a struggling actor in New York.

"Christmas, 1938 — I'll never forget it," he said. "My wife and I had been married a week.

"On the 25th day of December, I was called for a rehearsal of the play 'Gentle People.'

"Since we couldn't spend the day together, I invited her out for Christmas lunch.

"And what a festive affair it was. She with her 35 cents and me with 40. We dined in style — hot dogs, coffee and donuts at Chock Full O' Nuts (a famous New York coffee house)."

Oscar-winning character actor Ernest Borgnine's strongest Christmas memory was during World War 2 when he was a homesick sailor, a battle-bound gunner's mate aboard a destroyer docked at Hawaii's Pearl Harbor.

"I hadn't seen my parents, relatives and friends back in Brooklyn for over a year," he recalled.

"As the Christmas season approached, I grew more and more homesick. Every chance I got, I prowled the stores in Honolulu, taking my time in finding just the right gifts to send back."

At night, he wrote cards and letters to his kin and friends. As Christmas approached, his fellow sailors started getting gifts and cards — but nothing arrived for him.

"There seemed to be no explanation except that I had been forgotten," he said.

"Christmas morning, I forced myself to report for mail call. I waited until the end, but there was nothing for me. Then as I was leaving, a guy called out: 'Hey, Borgnine.'

"My mail was there — cards, letters, packages.

"Never again will I ever take Christmas and the warm, loving spirit that goes with it for granted."

Celebs talk about the gifts that made them the happiest

Celebrities had some surprising answers when they were asked: What is the most memorable gift you ever received at Christmas?

"It's not one gift," said Ed Asner, TV's "Lou Grant." "But the gifts I receive each year from my children, which they have selected with love and care. That means the most to me."

Roger Moore, movieland's suave James Bond, still remembers a wonderful present he received as a child.

"I wanted an electric train set," he recalled. "I dreamed about it. I wrote letters to Santa Claus. I told my uncle and father that it was coming.

"My father and uncle must

their pockets to make sure Santa didn't let me down. But what a Christmas it was when I got that train."

Elke Sommer's fondest memory is a gift that anyone now can get for a few cents in a supermarket.

"The Christmas gift I remember the most was an apple," she said. "That might sound ridiculous now, but after World War 2 in Germany, to get an apple in winter was almost impossible. A family friend brought one to me and it meant more than all the expensive gifts you could think of."

Superstar Clint Eastwood has never shown emotion in his movies, but he likes a gift that makes him go wow.

"To receive something that comes as a complete surprise really gets to me," he said. "The more personal the gift, the more I treasure it."

Dom DeLuise

family was poor when he was young and couldn't afford to buy him toys.

"All the gifts I would get for like pajamas, shirts, ties and socks," he said. "One Christmas day, a friend of the family came over and gave me a fun gift.

"It was a gorilla with its mouth open and you threw a ball at it. I was 16 and she apologized saying she hadn't realized I was already a big boy.

"But I didn't mind. It was the only toy I had gotten that Christmas."

TV's Laverne of "Laverne and Shirley," Penny Marshall treasures the giant cookie given her by her brother, Garry, who produces the show. It was his way of kidding her about her sweet-tooth for cookies and cakes.

Christmas carols were once called 'slings of the Devil'

Carolers in Victorian costumes entertain in the falling snow. Caroling is a tradition that dates back to the Middle Ages, and earlier.

By PHYLLIS HAMER

Today it wouldn't seem like Christmas without Christmas carols — but in the Middle Ages they were denounced by church officials as "slings of the Devil."

That's because carols were not always the religious hymns we know today. Originally they were half-pagan chants sung by peasants in western Europe while they danced on festive occasions more than 1,000 years ago.

The church issued decrees against caroling in the year 1209 and again in 1435, according to author Tristram Potter Coffin in "The Illustrated Book of Christmas Folklore."

People were warned by the church to "flee wicked and lecherous songs, dancing and leapings." But lord and commoner alike continued to sing carols.

Sometime in the 13th century, St. Francis of Assisi, possibly figuring "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em," launched a new wave of caroling — but his songs had sacred themes and pious lyrics.

For the next several centuries carols were sung by friars and minstrels in castles, manors and the monasteries, often at Christmastime, telling the story of Christ's birth and his suffering on the cross.

This led to the tradition of going from house to house singing Christmas carols.

Costumed children and adults would go from village to village, collecting gifts of food or money in exchange for their songs.

The tradition of caroling spread rapidly through Europe and became extremely popular in England.

Then in the 17th century Puritanism gained control of the government in England. The stiff-necked roundheads banned Christmas carols in both England and New England.

"Revels were made illegal, public theaters were closed and even 'Merry Christmas' was banned," wrote Coffin. However, he added, the customs continued secretly.

Caroling by now was so deeply entrenched in the hearts of the people that it could not be squelched by the government. Instead, it just went "underground."

Words of Christmas carols were passed on from one person to another, or secretly printed on sheets of paper and distributed.

And today, the custom of caroling still prevails, bringing joy to millions during the holiday season, when the beautiful sounds of "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" fill the air.

Two-toed tribe gets boot

One of the world's most mysterious tribes, an incredibly primitive society made up of two-toed people, is threatened by extinction.

The shy Dema tribe of Africa — a people that time forgot — is doomed to be torn apart by modern man.

In a cruel twist of fate, the peaceful cave-dwellers may have been left alone if not for a mystifying foot deformity that attracted the world's curiosity.

Astonishingly, inbreeding has given many of the Dema people only two toes — huge appendages that give their feet an ostrich-like look.

The socialist government of Zimbabwe is trying to persuade the Dema tribe to leave the Stone Age and move into modern settlements near the cities.

Sadly for these meek, two-toed people, it will mean the end of their history — and eventually their incredible two-toed heritage.

Woman is paralyzed — but she's a real whiz on the ski slopes

Marilyn Hamilton is the woman that tragedy cannot touch — paralyzed from the waist down in a horrifying accident, she has gone on to become the country's champion sitskier.

She flies down the slopes at 40 miles an hour, firmly lashed onto a bobsled-type ski, using six-inch poles to maneuver through the snow. The wind whips through her hair and in her heart is a dream — to lead the United States at the 1984 Special Olympics for the Disabled.

"You can't let anything stop you. Grab a dream and make it come true, go for it," says the pretty brunette with the indomitable spirit.

Marilyn was just 18 when she was chosen America's Raisin Queen. She played tennis for her school, took up scuba diving, trekked through the Australian Outback and the Far East with her husband and taught school.

But a tragic gliding accident three years ago threatened to turn her wonderful, healthy young life into a dark abyss of pain and despair.

"I flew off a 2,300-foot cliff, went straight down and then smashed into a ledge 200 feet below," Marilyn told The NEWS. "I had no feeling in my legs. I was on the cliff for four hours until a helicopter pulled me out."

Marilyn was totally paralyzed from the waist down. She spent agonizing months in a shoulder-to-hip body brace, but amazed her doctors when she cut an expected one-year rehabilitation process down to three incredible weeks.

"The doctors tell me I will never walk again, but I'm going to prove them wrong about that someday too," she said. "I believe I'm going to walk again."

Two years ago, Marilyn took up the new high-speed sport of sitskiing.

"I had skied for 15 years before my accident and I loved it, so when I heard about this new sport I knew I had to learn how," said the Reedley, Calif., 22-year-old.

A year later, she was competing and last year she set two new records — the fastest time ever for any man or woman on the downhill race course at the National Disabled Ski Championships in Winter Park, Colo., and the first sitskier ever to complete the grueling, 8-mile cross-country course.

She won two gold medals, one silver and the right to represent the United States at this winter's International Disabled Ski Championships which will be held in Switzerland leading to the 1984 Olympics.

Today Marilyn coaches other sitskiers, lifts weights and rolls five miles a day in her wheelchair before traffic hits the country roads near the ranch she shares with her husband Rick.

"Sitskiing has given me the chance to get back on the slopes with my husband and friends," she said. "But more than that, it's given me self-esteem and the courage to ignore the sharp pain I still feel at times."

The Christmas Jesse James played Santa Claus

By WAYNE ROBERTS

Old-timers still talk about the night Jesse James played Santa Claus and gave the good folks of McKinney, Tex., a Christmas to remember.

The war between the States had been over two months when Jesse and some other ex-Confederate soldiers drifted into McKinney that stark Christmas Eve of 1865.

Yankee troops and greedy carpetbaggers had stripped the town bare. The people were ragged, cold and slowly starving to death.

Jesse and his brother Frank were outraged.

They had come to Texas because the Yankees had put a price on their heads — both having served under the dashing guerrilla leader Captain William Clarke Quantrill — and they had expected to find shelter, food and a warm bed.

Now all they saw around them was hunger, poverty and want.

But Jesse, who hadn't yet started on his career of crime, wasn't the sort to sit back and watch his fellow Southerners starve.

That evening, just before sundown, he and Frank and a few other ex-soldiers rode quietly out of McKinney. Their destination was a mill owned by a man named Rheas, some six miles out of town.

Rheas was a well-known Union sympathizer, and he had prepared a huge Christmas feast for his many carpetbagger friends.

Jesse, Frank and the rest of the boys rode up to the mill and dismounted. They entered just as the guests were being seated around a 30-foot wooden table.

The table groaned under the weight of the food.

There were mounds of steaming vegetables, dozens of roast turkeys, platters heaped with baked chickens and pork, and huge sides of beef.

Another table held pies, cakes and the liquid refreshments.

The conversation and noisy laughter of the 42 guests had died as soon as the gaunt and wild-eyed Rebels walked in.

Now Jesse drew his Remington and brought the butt down hard on the table.

"Don't nobody move," he snarled. "Don't let me even see you blink!"

Meanwhile big Cole Younger and Jim Cummings went to work clearing the huge table, roughly pushing the sputtering Rheas aside. Frank held burlap bags open as the other men poured the food inside. All of it, vegetables, turkeys, pork, beef, cake and pies got mixed together.

When the food was packed and the tables bare, Jesse eased down the hammer of his gun:

"Now you can celebrate your Yankee victory," he said, "but you will do it with empty bellies."

His strange, cold eyes swept the room and he added: "I'll personally shoot anyone who leaves this mill within an hour."

Rheas suddenly stopped his blustering and the rest of the carpetbaggers sat in silence. No one felt like bucking the little man who wore the big gun.

Jesse and the others rode hard back to McKinney and doled out the food to the desperately hungry people. Everyone, no matter how poor or humble, got a fair share.

Jesse later went on to become a bank and train robber and a terror to the west.

But in Texas he will always be remembered as the man who showed the true Christmas spirit one cold winter night and saved a town from starvation.

Doctor Reports New "Miracle" Diet Cures Arthritis

In most cases . . . ends pain, heat and swelling in joints in three to ten days . . . restores normal bone structure in three to six months.

Hundreds of arthritis victims who were resigned to a life of agonizing pain are now enjoying pain-free motion once again —thanks to a new "miracle" diet, says its discoverer, Dr. Giraud W. Campbell.

Dr. Campbell reports from his tests that in case after case, this totally safe and natural diet . . .

- Eases heat and swelling in affected joints within three to ten days.
- Relieves pain—and in most cases eliminates pain entirely—in two weeks or less.
- Allows more normal movement of affected parts in three weeks or less.
- Restores damaged bone structure in most cases in three to six months.

"It has not mattered whether these patients were old or young," Dr. Campbell says. "It has not mattered in what part of the body they had arthritis . . . It has not mattered whether the doctor who referred them to me said it was caused by an infection, or what type of arthritis they had . . . It has not mattered whether they were still getting around or whether they were bedridden . . . It has not mattered whether they had arthritis for six months, six years, or longer. . . . Their arthritis was in most cases cured and yours may be, too.

"Despite all you may have been told," Dr. Campbell explains, "bones and joints are not always permanently damaged even when ravished by a decade or more of crippling arthritis and even when you are in the so-called golden years.

"Arthritis can be cured. Legs do strengthen. Hips recover. Knees return to normal. Fingers improve. Backs straighten. My files are full of case histories that read like miracles."

X-rays show case after case of proven bone restoration

"I showed a medical colleague of mine X-rays to prove my diet can improve the bone structure in arthritis," Dr. Campbell continues. "He examined them with genuine amazement. He was looking at proof that kneecaps were un-fusing themselves, compressed vertebrae were regenerating, bony overgrowth was being reduced and its proliferation checked and absorbed."

How Dr. Campbell's arthritis cure works

"Nature wants you to function perfectly," says Dr. Campbell. "Nature renews tissues, heals wounds, repairs organs. And nature restores bones and joints . . . if you let her."

But how do you "let her?"

Dr. Campbell states flatly that diet is the key.

He has developed a diet that, he states, eliminates arthritis-causing chemicals from the body.

"Many foods," he says "contain powerful medicines which may cause or aggravate your arthritis. For instance, chicken or beef may have had medicines injected in the creature for faster growth and for greater resistance to microbes.

"You think you are enjoying finger-licking good chicken or tender roast beef, but what you are really enjoying may be an indirect dose of silbestrol, arsenic, or aureomycin."

The "price" of an arthritis cure

To rid themselves of these and other arthritis-causing poisons, Dr. Campbell's patients must follow a strict regimen. They must give up certain foods that they may have been eating all their lives—and replace them with "arthritis-curing" foods they may not have eaten before. In addition, Dr. Campbell's patients must devote a few minutes a day to simple exercises aimed at accelerating neuromuscular and joint restoration.

But those people who are willing to pay the price of cure and follow the diet may in most cases "expect a miracle," Dr. Campbell promises.

"Expect your pain to start diminishing from the start of the diet," he says. "Expect no need for aspirin or other pain relievers in a week or ten days . . . expect continuing improvement in your joint mobility . . . expect a gradual restoration of damaged bone . . . expect your return to normal life without arthritic pain."

There is only one exception. "I confess right here and now," Dr. Campbell states, "that I cannot help those who have had extensive gold treatments and who have undergone blood changes because of extended drug or chemical treatment."

However, while no one can guarantee relief or cure in all cases, Dr. Campbell says his files are filled with case histories of people who have obtained welcome relief even after drug therapy.

Indeed, a number of letters written by former arthritis sufferers who have tried various treatments reveal compelling evidence in support of Dr. Campbell's diet.

"It was like a miracle."

Mrs. H. G. was virtually incapacitated with arthritis. She writes: "I had been in an auto accident which affected my spine and caused chronic arthritis. I couldn't raise my arms without severe pain; combing my hair was almost impossible. Doctors gave me up to 24 aspirins per day, traction, hydrotherapy, sonic ray therapy and physiotherapy. It was at this time that I began treatment with Dr. Campbell . . . After treatment started, I felt a tremendous improvement in seven days. Within two weeks the brace was off and I felt better. I was able to raise my arms upward. It was like a miracle."

Spine healed

Mr. F. S., an army veteran from Roslyn, N.Y., tells this story: "I was discharged from the Army in 1945. Shortly thereafter, I began to experience pains in my lower back and the disease became steadily worse. I became more crippled. My spine, at this time, had practically fused solid. Pain . . . was continuous, day and night, with no relief. At this point I heard of Dr. Giraud Campbell. To my amazement within two weeks, the pain decreased at least 50%. I was able to walk better. I only wish I had come under Dr. Campbell's care . . . when the disease first started."

Pain gone in three weeks

Mr. J. K. of Rockaway Beach, N.Y. writes this thankful letter: "Three years ago, maybe four, I started to get pains in my arms and fingers. As time went on 12 aspirins a day didn't make any impression. Other medications were tried with no effect, so finally I decided to enter a hospital. They told me nothing could be done. I just had to live with it. All these symptoms were completely cleared up in a very short time after I started getting treatments from Dr. Campbell. It was fantastic! Within three weeks, the pain had left my shoulders, arms, and hands."

Inflammation vanishes in three days

And Mrs. H. M. of Summit, N.J., a 10-year sufferer of the disease, writes: "I first felt less free motion of my spine that gradually aggravated. On and off I had inflammation in my spine, and finally . . . I began to notice some deformity in my spine. The lower back pain came more often. All these years I had been seeing specialists who couldn't help me a bit. I learned about Dr. Campbell . . . After three days my inflammation of the spine was gone completely . . . I can now establish motion in most of my joints in the spine."

How to find out more about Dr. Campbell's anti-arthritis diet

Details of Dr. Campbell's anti-arthritis diet are now available for the first time in a book. It's called A DOCTOR'S PROVEN NEW HOME CURE FOR ARTHRITIS. It also tells you about 3 important food supplements that can help speed your recovery.

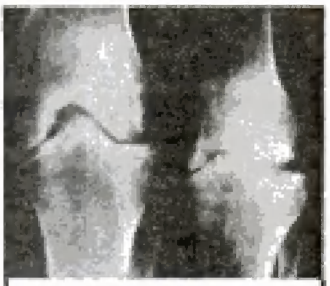
The book also gives you Dr. Campbell's "10 commandments" for arthritis-free dining . . . it shows you 4 ways to take the load off rejuvenating bones and joints . . . it gives you complete directions on how to spend ten fun-filled minutes a day to regain the lost movements of your body . . . and more.



X-RAYS PROVE BONE RESTORATION POSSIBLE IN ARTHRITIS

This dramatic set of X-rays shows amazing progress in the restoration of the bone structure in a knee damaged by arthritis. X-ray Number 1, on left, taken at the start of Dr. Campbell's treatment, shows lack of joint space due to bony overgrowth, making normal pain-free motion impossible. X-ray Number 2, on right, taken after treatment, reveals that bony overgrowth has disappeared and there is greater joint space. Normal motion is now possible.

DR. GIRAUD W. CAMPBELL

Dr. Giraud W. Campbell is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, Class of 1931. He has practiced for over 40 years in New York State. He was one of the founders of the Long Island Osteopathic Society, and he is a member of several leading professional groups. He has been involved with nutritional and laboratory research in arthritis for over 30 years.

Medical doctor Benjamin S. Frank, speaking of Dr. Campbell's work, writes in the Foreword to A DOCTOR'S PROVEN NEW HOME CURE FOR ARTHRITIS, "Dr. Campbell's advice and therapy in the treatment of arthritis with an essentially natural method is welcome indeed. His success with this method has been truly remarkable."

This beautiful little boy could be killed by one tender loving caress

By IRVING PARK

Carol MacDonald lives in heart-stopping fear around her cuddly baby boy — because she knows her most tender touch could kill him.

Stricken with a rare, terrifying disease, 14-month-old Jay MacDonald breaks out in ugly, agonizing sores at the slightest touch.

If one of those blistering sores becomes badly infected, the blond little boy could die, doctors say.

"It breaks our hearts to see him in such awful pain, to see the sores all over his body. But we have to be brave — to think on the positive side," Jay's grieving mom told The NEWS.

Carol and Jim MacDonald were shattered a year ago when they learned that their precious, bubbly baby had epidermolysis bullosa — a tragic skin ailment that maims and kills its victims.

Before Jay was born, Carol had read in horror the story of another boy who died at the age of 10 from the ghastly disease called EB.

"I cried when I read that story, never in my wildest nightmares thinking I would have a baby with the same kind of illness," The New Port Richey, Fla., woman recalled.

Little Jay began getting nasty sores on his feet three days after he was born, but it took several weeks for doctors to find the cause.

"I was sick and angry," said the baby's dad, Jim. "I wanted to hit somebody or something, but there was nobody to hit."

The touch of a blanket, a piece of clothing, even a mother's loving hand can blister the poor child's body.

The tot's hands and feet are kept wrapped in bandages treated with medicated creams and lotions.

"We have to watch him, take care of him, almost constantly," Carol said. "But of course, we're not complaining about that for ourselves, just for Jay.

"We bathe him twice a day and we're always looking for things we can do to make life less painful for him and to keep the sores under control."

As part of Jay's daily treatment, his parents must perform the heartbreaking task of slicing open his blisters to prevent the infection that could kill him.

"He hates it — it hurts him so much," Carol said. "And it makes us feel so bad to have to do this to him every single day."

While researchers struggle to find a cure for the devastating disease, Jim and Carol can only hope and pray for a miracle.

"We have faith — we really do," Carol said. "We have to believe that it's possible for him to lead a normal, happy life like other people.

"That's the one thing we pray for."

Cute little Jay MacDonald plays in his crib — unaware of the terrible disease that makes his life so difficult.

Carol and Jim MacDonald care for their baby, Jay, whose skin is so sensitive that the slightest touch causes a blister.

Dave Drimmer stands aboard his new home, the boat that was once a plane owned by late billionaire Howard Hughes. Hughes had intended to use it to break his own around-the-world speed record.

Howard Hughes' plane now a floating house

In an incredible fall from glory, the once-magnificent "Flying Penthouse" that used to wing billionaire Howard Hughes through the skies is now a rickety old boat tied up in a remote canal.

"It's sad to remember the grand machine she once was and to think what's happened to her," said a former Hughes friend.

The adventurous tycoon paid millions for the mammoth Boeing Stratoliner in 1938, planning to use it as a bid to break his own around-the-world speed record.

He had to scrap the dream when World War 2 broke out.

So Hughes decided to convert the four-engine plane into a luxurious flying apartment — one of the most elegant in the world.

The business baron spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to install a lavish master bedroom, a huge living room, a kitchen and two bathrooms. The whole thing was air-conditioned and equipped with indirect lighting.

Hughes sold the flying palace to a Texas millionaire and it passed through several more hands before winding up in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

A vicious storm ravaged the plane in 1965 and, for four years, the historic craft lay tragically abandoned.

In 1969, a junkman chipped off the wings of the old plane, leaving the once-majestic machine resting like a scarred, ugly shell.

Then a Florida real estate broker and aviation buff, Ken London, decided to transform the crippled airliner into a unique ship.

Ken and his wife Iris toiled for five years, fitting the old fuselage into an experimental hull and adding two powerful engines.

When they were finished, they had a weird-looking, 7-ton vessel that could zip through the ocean at more than 20 knots.

The Londons said the 36-foot ship is worth $50,000 in 1972, but the new owner ducked it and let the strange craft fall into ruin. Storms and vandals ripped the ship apart.

When the owner died in 1980, the battered vessel was sold to Dave Drimmer, a bachelor printer from Fort Lauderdale, for a mere $7,501.

"This was a great opportunity," Drimmer said. "It'll be a real beauty by the time I get it all fixed up.

"And I'll be living in a home that once was a boat that once was a plane that Howard Hughes flew. Can you believe it?"

Leg comes off in trooper's hand

A state trooper got more than she bargained for when she stopped to check a plastic bag lying in the road.

First Cassie Wright of the Louisiana state police thought she had uncovered a dead body — a man wrapped in plastic lying beside a car.

When she touched the man's leg, it was still and she figured rigor mortis had set in, so she called cops for assistance, returned to the body and gave another tug of the leg. It came off in her hand.

"It was an artificial leg," explained a spokesman. "The man awakened, looked at her, sat up and Trooper Wright threw the leg over her shoulder and screamed."

Dinner's off — host nabbed for food theft

A homestyle barbecue was called off by cops when the host was nabbed for stealing the food.

Police said the host, David Rowe, 20, of College Station, Tex., planned to feed his invited guests with food he stole from a [illegible].

Rowe wheeled a cart through a restaurant food shop, helped himself to eight 6-packs of beer, two bottles of wine, 10 pounds of meat, a cockerrow and some tortillas, cops said.

The stunned chef gave chase, Rowe ditched the cart and led him on a 1½-mile foot race. When police joined in, they ended up at Rowe's house and found a group of people waiting for dinner.

Rowe got dinner — in the county slammer.

Police said Louis Torres tried to hold up Citibank in New York City, but he failed to notice that the bank manager slipped out of sight to dial the police emergency number. Then he chose the wrong hostage to try to squeeze through a door with.

The would-be bandit was so discouraged he just sat down on the floor of the bank, threw down his gun and looked like he was going to cry.

8 who were abandoned by parents are together again after 21 years

By ELLEN BRANDT

Eight sisters and brothers, separated for 21 long years, reunited with hugs, kisses and tears of joy — a moment each of them had dreamed of since childhood.

"It was a most beautiful, exciting moment," said pretty Sharry Guthrie, 25. "Everyone was talking at once and hugging. There's no way to put into words the love that flowed between us."

And her sister Gerri Lantz, 29, told The NEWS: "We all felt like Christmas had come a little early this year, but it was the best Christmas ever — for the presents we got were each other."

Sharry of Detroit, Mich., was 4 and Gerri of Bolinas, Calif., was 7 when they and their sisters and brothers were placed in a Detroit orphanage. Their parents were alcoholics, unable to care for them.

Gerri and her sister Terry were adopted by a local family, kind loving parents who showered them with love, gave them a fine education and an excellent start in life.

"We always had a large home and a swimming pool," Gerri said. "For a streetwise child from the lowest level of society it was moving from famine to feast."

But all this happiness did not end Gerri's longing for her younger sisters and brothers, the toddlers she had cared for like a mother while she herself was only a child.

"Losing them was a heart-wrenching experience," she said. "I thought of them every single day of my life."

And in different parts of the country, Gerri and Terry were in California, the others in Michigan, each child had the same dream — to find one another again.

But planning that wonderful reunion was like putting together a jigsaw puzzle. The kids would fit one little piece, but be unable to reach the one they needed next. The frustration of the search was weighing heavily on the children.

Then one of the girls, Carrie, 24, placed an ad in a small paper: "Sweet Pea Carrier," it read, "although separated at the Guardian Angel Home, I have not forgotten you. Call your sister Carrie."

"Sweet Pea" was Sharry's nickname. The woman who had married the children's father — he had long since divorced their natural mother — recognized it and passed the ad to Sharry.

Within a few months, the pieces of the puzzle started to fall into place and the dream was beginning to come true.

A neighbor told Carrie that someone she knew could be yet another sister — Sarrie. Then the phone calls began, planning the reunion of six sisters, two brothers, three brothers-in-law, seven nieces and nephews.

The scattered family arrived from Atlanta and all over Michigan for their reunion in Detroit.

"There were some incredible coincidences," Sharry recalled. "We discovered that for the last three years, Carrie had lived three miles from me.

"And for at least eight years, my sister Mary had lived two or three miles from me in West Bloomfield, Mich. We had narrowly missed going to the same high school at the same time.

"It turned out that all of us like to sing and dance, and that most of my sisters and brothers are artistic. We all have outgoing personalities also."

Gerri added: "All of us are energetic and most of us are in health or service professions. And incredibly, all five of we girls married dark men with mustaches!"

Six of the brothers and sisters look at an old photo album while awaiting the arrival of the other two.

Tears of joy flow as the last two sisters arrive for the happy reunion — and big hugs were shared by all the happy relatives.

A family portrait at last — the eight brothers and sisters line up for their first picture together in more than two decades. Their tears of joy had turned to smiles for the photographer.

Heartbroken family loses $30,000 home over $256 bill

By JOE BERGER

Hardworking James and Bernice Williams slaved for years to buy their $30,000 dream home — and then the law took it away because they couldn't pay a $256 plumbing bill!

"I'm absolutely heartbroken," a tearful Bernice, 38, told The NEWS.

"We struggled so much and we loved that house. I never imagined that something like this could happen in a country like America."

The poor Tampa, Fla., couple and their two young children moved into their little two-bedroom house in 1973 and saw its value grow from $14,500 to $30,000.

"We worked," recalled Bernice, a housemaid.

"We took part-time jobs, anything we could find. We parked cars in the cold and the rain.

"We saved every penny we could and it hurt, but we finally made it — we got our home."

And then a leaky water heater turned their dream into a ghastly nightmare.

Bernice called in a Tampa plumber, who replaced the heater and presented a bill for $256.

"I thought the insurance would pay for getting us a new one," she said. "We thought that was what the insurance was for."

"When the insurance people wouldn't pay, we knew we couldn't afford it and we asked them to come out and take their heater back.

"We didn't think they could just come and take our house away."

Bernice and James didn't know about a shocking Florida law that allows firms to file a lien against homeowners who owe them money — and so take over their house if the debt isn't paid.

Bernice got several court papers in the mail, but they didn't understand the awful trouble they were in.

"We never even got a chance to finish grade school and I guess we just didn't know what was going on," Bernice said.

"I thought we were going to be called to court and we were waiting for that, but they never gave us a time to go.

"We didn't know we were supposed to give the court something in writing, but we were."

Because James and Bernice did not answer a summons, their tidy white house with red trim was auctioned off — sold for $4,000 to a man who had filed the lien.

Kenneth and LaTeasia were kicked out and had to move in with relatives.

"My pride is gone and it hurts me to see my family crying," said James, 40, a restaurant janitor.

"We're never going to get over this — no way. We just won't ever be able to get us a new house."

Bernice hopes that the tragedy that struck her family will be a warning to other homeowners.

"When the law can just come in and take away everything you've worked for — the home you and your kids live in — it's a bad thing," she said.

How modern Chinese Medicine helps

BURN DISEASE OUT OF YOUR BODY

. . . lying flat on your back, using nothing more than the palm of your hand!

THE CHINESE DO NOT BELIEVE IN SURGERY OR MEDICINE FOR MAJOR ILLNESSES. THEY HELP PREVENT SUCH ILLNESSES INSTEAD—WITH A SERIES OF MILD, ALMOST EFFORTLESS INTERNAL EXERCISES.

At last! A new (although it is 4,000 years old), and different type of self-healing. Born in China over 40 Centuries ago, it is called Taoist medicine. And we will let the foremost practitioner of it in the Western world—Dr. Stephen T. Chang—give you a brief and startling introduction to it:

"Presently, growing old conjures images of high blood pressure, arterial sclerosis, embolisms, cancers and diseases of all imaginative types. Until recently, Westerners have been given few alternatives for dealing with these. We have allowed our bodies and minds to weaken.

However, the main emphasis of the Internal Exercises, is on strengthening our bodies and minds. By performing these simple exercises on a daily basis, we can look forward to living a life free from anxiety of future illnesses and weakness due to present diseases.

"We are thus able to gain control over the vast energy upon which all life depends. We can then use this energy to heal ourselves as well as others."

". . . SELF-HEALING, WHICH IS THE NATURAL RESULT OF DOING THESE EXERCISES ON A REGULAR BASIS, IS GUARANTEED."

"The Internal Exercises are easily performed, require no strenuous activity, and do not require a great deal of time to perform.

"They are the very opposite of an external exercise. While external exercises may produce an attractive outer figure, they often do so by depleting the energy of the internal organs, therefore causing not only any number of illnesses, but also premature aging.

"Internal Exercises encourage the circulatory system without speeding up the heart rate. All the exercises are done slowly, without effort. You see, the number of times our heart beats during our lifetime indicates the length of our life. We do not want the heart to wear out prematurely. The heart rate does not increase during the practice of these exercises and, indeed, through their practice the heart rate actually slows down."

FOR EXAMPLE, LET US GIVE YOU THE SIMPLE INTERNAL EXERCISE THAT ENERGIZES THE HEART.

No movement is required. All you do instead is this:

Sit or stand, with your hands simply extended in front of your chest at the level of your shoulders as shown on page 82. Make sure that the fingertips of each hand almost touch—but keep about a quarter of an inch distance between them. Keep your eyes focused on the tips of your fingers. THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO THE ENTIRE EXERCISE.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Currently he is on the faculty or consulting or conducting classes and lectures at Chinese medicine schools he has been practicing for more than 35 years) at such universities and organizations as: The University of California at Berkeley...The University of Ohio Nursing...U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, San Francisco, College of San Mateo...Golden West College Center for Chinese Medicine Continuing Education...and many more.

In addition Dr. Chang has given many workshops for registered nurses. When held in California, for example, each workshop provided Continuing Education Credit by: California State Board of Registered Nursing...American Medical Association Category II...and California State Board of Dental Examiners.

Nothing more. Not a single strain on any part of your body. Your heart beat doesn't rise a single beat. And yet, what happens is this—

"This exercise creates a flow of energy which comes in through the fingers of the right hand, comes across the chest and into the heart, then passes through the heart. IT STRENGTHENS THE HEART TISSUES AND SURROUNDING BLOOD VESSELS. With practice, you will be able to feel the entire circle of energy as it passes through your arms, body and heart. Then you will know that you are building a stronger heart."

AND THESE ARE THE RESULTS DR. CHANG PROMISES YOU—

"Solar plexus exercise," in which the Chinese help BURN DISEASE OUT OF THEIR BODIES . . . lying flat on their back, using nothing more than the palm of their hand.

"Likewise, by massaging the outside of the legs in a downward fashion, problems, such as high blood pressure, water retention, and overweight . . . can be cured or prevented from occurring. Problems of bursitis and arthritis can be reversed, or at least prevented from degenerating further.

"Excess fat, water and flesh muscle will be eliminated, and the belly will shrink.

"This motion breaks up constipation, encourages absorption of nutrients and strengthens the entire digestive track."

"This way, invading germs do not have a good environment in which to settle and germinate, because one's bowel movements are so strong and regular. Then it is not easy to get disease.

"By following this exercise, you will insure yourself of good hearing into old age.

"Clicking the teeth—as shown to you on page 59—will help tighten the joints of the body, and keep the teeth healthy."

PLUS ALL THIS—BY DR. CHANG

How to eventually throw your glasses away, simply by rubbing around your eyes for a few minutes each day.

How to keep your lungs strong, acquire fewer colds, allergies, and sinus conditions, simply by stimulating certain points about your nose.

How to use natural healing water as a form of medicine, so powerful that it may be used to treat cuts and other infections. And so powerful, indeed, that, when properly used, it helps prevent tooth decay.

Brain cleansing—by breathing.

The state of inner vision, that helps you see the signs before a disease begins to take hold in your body.

How your hands alone can help prevent or cure bumps of the breast. And even enlarge those breasts as well.

How to check stomach sag, merely by concentrating on your feet.

For men, how to prevent or reverse prostate enlargement by using a simple three-minute sitting exercise.

AS DR. CHANG SAID, "IF ONE NEVER HAS A MILD ILLNESS, THEN A SERIOUS DISEASE WILL NEVER DEVELOP."

Many years ago, most medical men would have laughed at the Taoist medical invention of acupuncture. Now thousands of doctors all over America are using it for their own supplementary treatment. Will the same story now be repeated with these Internal Exercises?

No one knows, but already they are being used by thousands of people to heal themselves, through this great new book.

Here's all you do. To receive a return-mail copy of THE BOOK OF INTERNAL EXERCISES by Dr. Stephen T. Chang, send $12.98 in full payment (which includes handling and postage) to Personal Realization, Inc., 535 Fifth Ave., Dept. WWI3-22 New York City, N.Y., 10017.

Try these Internal Exercises for as long as you wish, entirely at our risk. If they do not do everything that Dr. Chang says, simply return the book

Super mom and three daughters hike 1,400 miles cross-country

By DICK DONOVAN

Ex-model Meryl Squiers yearned for one last fling before "going over the hill" at age 30 — so she took her three daughters and the family pooch and hiked 1,400 miles cross-country.

On the day of her birthday, the stunning Chicago blonde, the kids and the dog had reached their destination, Yellowstone National Park.

Meryl's 31-year-old husband Dwight was waiting at the park entrance to drive the weary trekkers home at the triumphant finish of their incredible 5-month odyssey.

"I really did it as a kind of last fling before I left my 30s," Meryl said. "If I was going 'over the hill,' I thought I'd do it in a big way."

That understatement typifies the diminutive and modest beauty, who stands 5-feet-2-inches tall and toted a backpack that often weighed as much as 80 pounds.

"At 80 pounds, my knees were buckling," she said, "but I'd often hike 10 to 15 miles a day toting all that weight. It was all my idea, so I couldn't really complain."

Meryl, whose mother is a full-blooded Cherokee, inherited the American Indian's love of the outdoors, and she wanted her children Dina, 12, Dionn, 11, and Dori, 8, to learn about it first-hand.

"We never once slept inside," their proud mother said. "That was the whole point, to rough it. My children really appreciate the little things now, everything they had previously taken for granted, like a bath, a drink of water and regular meals."

The family set out on their cross-country hike with packs as heavy as each could carry. They trekked through northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming — and not without facing danger.

Incredible Meryl Squiers and her daughters Dionn, 11, Dina, 12, and Dori, 8, pose for a picture after their amazing journey. The family pooch who made the astonishing trip with them is at left. "I really did it as a kind of last fling," Meryl said.

Along the way they encountered a mountain lion that "tracked" them for a time before crossing in front of them with her cubs.

Then, while camping in the Shoshone Canyon near Yellowstone, a marauding bear, estimated to be more than seven feet tall visited their camp on two successive nights.

"We never saw it, but it left tracks in camp," Meryl said. "Our dog Sadie chased it down to the river. We were terrified. I was carrying a big .44-magnum pistol, but it was pitch-dark out and Sadie was going crazy. Thank God that bear decided to leave us alone."

Mother Nature also added a little excitement — and some fear — when a tornado passed near them in South Dakota while they scrambled to tie their tent to a tree near a ditch.

"We laid flat inside the tent and tried to keep it down," Meryl said.

"It took everything we had to keep the tent from blowing away. It took a foot of water before some Indians helped us move to higher ground."

But the exciting adventures were sandwiched between routine, dismal days of rain in South Dakota, blistering 107-degree heat in Wyoming, and one 125-mile stretch between towns when they ran out of food and lived on roots, herbs and cactus.

What's next for the adventurous mom? Well, she and Dina are planning a seven-month horseback journey along the Cascade Mountains from Canada to Mexico.

"When my husband heard about that, he said, 'Oh, no!' "

'We're all ears . . .'

Owning a big car costs a shocking 51¢ a mile!

It now costs Americans a whopping half a dollar per mile to own and drive a full-size car!

A startling report by the Hertz Corp. said the cost of running one of the bigger cars has reached 51 cents a mile, an increase of almost 12 percent since last year.

The bill for operating an intermediate-size vehicle has climbed to 40 cents a mile and least — but still set back drivers nearly 35 cents a mile.

The average driver spends $6,437 to keep his car rolling down the highway, the company said.

"Motorists in the United States are buying smaller cars with fewer options, keeping them longer and driving them less in an effort to offset these increases in expenses," the Hertz report said.

Here's how to make the New Year the very best ever by using . . .

Your 1982 happiness horoscope

You can take a peek ahead and see what lies in store for you in 1982 with The NEWS' complete horoscope guide for the next 12 months.

For many of you — especially those born under the sun signs of Aquarius, Virgo, Taurus and Cancer — this will be a year of extraordinary advances in romance, career, health and wealth.

For others, hard work and open communications will bring about the results you want.

ARIES
March 21-April 19

What a promising year lies ahead of you, Aries, especially if you concentrate on improving skills related to your work. You will find yourself working in partnership more than you're accustomed to, but you can make important strides toward financial and career success.

Planning is of extreme importance and tact is a must. The year should be free of major health problems.

TAURUS
April 20-May 20

Lady Luck will shine on you for most of the year, Taurus, as you enjoy renewed health and energy, make some important progress through conscientious work and are happier romantically than you've been for some time.

Be cautious about spending or your extravagant tendencies could seriously erode your financial advances. Teamwork is stressed, flexibility is an absolute necessity and many Taurus people will change jobs, moving on to positions that bring out your great talent.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

This can be a fascinating year filled with surprises for you, Gemini, perhaps even travel to a foreign country. Emphasis will be on artistic and creative endeavors, but progress will depend largely on how well you curb your restless energy. Set goals, then channel drive toward fulfilling dreams.

Expect the unexpected at home. Give-and-take, tact and diplomacy will serve you well in 1982 and romance will bloom with partner who stimulates you mentally.

CANCER
June 21-July 22

You can make this a fantastic year, Cancer, but you have to be ready to make decisions quickly. Major life-style changes could be in the offing and while you should be careful about risks involving investments, you may prosper by taking a gamble in other areas.

Avoid excessive worry and Elizabeth Taylor, dancing with hubby Sen. John Warner, is a Pisces born Feb. 27, 1932, and can expect mid-year joy.

stress or minor health problems will lead to major ones.

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22

This can be the smoothest year you've enjoyed in quite some time, Leo, but you'll have to watch personal spending. Income increases and so does spending, but just don't overdo. Several short trips or mini-vacations can leave memories to last a lifetime.

Avoid displays of temper and impatience and you'll fare well, especially at work. Romance contains ups and downs and you can make the most of your love relationship by being understanding and considerate.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22

You move into 1982 more sure of yourself and better pleased with your sense of accomplishment than you have probably greeted any new year of your life, Virgo. With the ball in your court, don't hesitate, and you'll succeed like never before. Finish projects you start — no excuses.

Home affairs improve and children are won over with love, understanding and consistent discipline. They'll give you much to be proud of and all the good vibrations make relationship with mate warm.

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22

bra, and you'll have some serious thinking to do. On the bright side, 1982 will be a marvelous year for financial and career success.

Avoid impulse action on business front, channel creative energy into the artistic projects that give you so much pleasure. You may be moodier than usual and burying yourself in work will be your best escape. Opportunities abound for more money if you plan carefully and steer clear of rash decisions.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 22

For Scorpio people who have gained control over their sometimes reckless impulses, this can be a most promising year. The key to success lies in keeping actions aboveboard and discussing true feelings with mate and those close to you.

It's a year for expansion and improved knowledge about yourself, Scorpio, and minor setbacks will pale by comparison to the new you who is emerging — a wiser, more mature and open person.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 23-Dec. 21

Exciting surprises and even some which you'll wish you hadn't seen will come your way this eventful year, Sagittarius. Think before you speak or "I'm sorry" will be your two most-used words this year. Opportunities are presented and you can increase income, but consult professionals or trusted friends before taking the investment plunge.

Careful handling will turn marital pressures into marital bliss. Good intentions must be followed up by sincere deeds. Friends play an important role.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Business and financial pressures begin to ease as the new year gets under way and 1982 holds promise for those of you who have worked painstakingly during the last 12 months.

Attention to planning, detail and organization lead to increased success on the work front. A nagging, minor health problem clears up and best of all, marital relationship grows stronger and closer during this special year. Communication with those of opposite sex is easier for single and married Capricorns alike this year.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Lucky Aquarius, what a year awaits you! You're lucky in love and lucky in general. Hard work on the job pays off in promotions and raises and higher-ups look at you with new respect. Your circle of friends widens to include a few people who become very special.

A sudden decision may be required regarding career. Follow instincts, discuss pros and cons with mate. Don't be surprised if you take a trip you never thought you'd be able to afford.

PISCES
Feb. 19-March 20

Health problems may be a little more sensitive this year and elders, especially close relatives, may demand more attention, but where work and love are concerned, you can make this a truly remarkable and exciting 12 months.

Avoid impulses where large sums of money are concerned, be wary of one who might try to deceive you, but don't let them destroy your trusting nature. Courses you take to improve job skills are helpful.

Pilot crawls 6 hours for help after helicopter crash

Larry Von Russell's body was shattered in a terrifying helicopter crash. But he clawed his way over rugged, storm-swept terrain in a heroic effort to save his dying friend.

For six agonizing hours, Larry bit back screams as pain lanced through his crippled body. Groaning, he dragged himself, inch by inch, toward a farmhouse two miles from the crash scene.

By MICKEY McGUIRE

Larry's friend, 50-year-old Malcolm Spann, was alive when rescuers finally reached him, but he died before he could be airlifted to a hospital a few miles away.

Larry, a 32-year-old pilot employed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, waged his incredible battle for survival despite injuries that included a crushed spine.

"I did it because I had to do it," he told The NEWS. "I was crawling for life. Not mine, but for my friend."

His horrifying ordeal began shortly after 4 p.m., when he and helicopter instructor Spann lifted off from an airport in California's fertile Napa Valley.

"I'm taking helicopter flying lessons and Malcolm was my instructor," Larry said. "We took off from Napa County Airport and a few minutes later we crashed. I don't know how it happened.

"I woke up outside the helicopter. I guess we were both thrown from the wreckage after the seat belts snapped. Malcolm was lying on the ground about 10 feet from the chopper.

"Malcolm couldn't walk because of his leg injuries. I knew if anyone was going to go for help it would have to be me. There wasn't anyone else.

"I saw some lights in the distance and I started crawling toward them."

Larry's clothing was soaked with fuel when he began his agonizing journey, and every inch he traveled sent pain stabbing through his body.

"I just kept crawling toward the glow of the lights," Larry said.

"It was a long night, but I was slowly getting closer and closer. Finally I could see that the lights were coming from a farmhouse.

"When I reached the door, I rung the bell and a woman opened an upstairs window. When I told her what had happened and that Malcolm was still out there, she called the police."

The California Highway Patrol immediately launched a search for the crashed helicopter, but a heavy rainstorm made it impossible for their cars to get to the crash site.

A helicopter rescue team was sent to the area, and at 2:40 a.m. — an hour after Larry had reached the farmhouse — pilot Ron Seaman and observer Lewis Roper spotted the mangled wreckage of the chopper.

Spann was alive when the officers reached him. But it took the rescuers more than an hour to get him safely secured to their own helicopter.

Spann died during the 20-minute flight to the hospital. Doctors said he had suffered severe internal injuries.

"It was one of those things that happen," Larry said.

"I guess you could say I am a very lucky guy to be alive."

Cost of 'true love' shopping list would be almost $45Gs

It would cost $45,000 if you followed the shopping list in the popular Christmas carol that starts, "On the first day of Christmas, my true love gave to me . . ."

First, according to Everybody's Money magazine, the first gift, a partridge in a pear tree, would cost $20 — $14 for the tree and $15 for the partridge.

And the next gift — two turtle doves — would cost $10.

The bill for three French hens would be $30; four calling birds would cost $140; five golden rings would call for $1,000 and six geese a-laying would come to $60.

And the expense keeps mounting. Seven swans a-swimming cost $1,260.

Eight maids a-milking for an 8-hour day at the average farm wage of $3.36 an hour would cost $216.32.

Nine ladies dancing would cost $6,000 — if they were a moderately successful female dance company.

Ten lords a-leaping would cost $1,200 if you decided to train the leaping lords and save a few bucks. That's the fee for 10 kids at a gymnastics school for 16 weeks.

Eleven pipers piping will cost $145.20 an hour — union scale is $11 an hour plus 20 percent extra for the chief piper.

Finally, 12 drummers drumming will cost $138.60.

That brings the total to $10,314.92 — but remember the gifts are repeated in each verse of the popular song.

And by the 12th day of Christmas the gifts cost a total of $44,848.40, the magazine says.

Ghastly fate of the judge's wife

On that strange October evening, Judge Jules Forstein called his wife to let her know he'd be delayed at a political banquet.

"I don't expect to be too late," he said. "Is everything all right?"

There were reasons for the question. He seldom left his wife and children alone, because on at least one occasion something terrible had visited their home.

But Dorothy was cheerful that evening, and she assured her husband that everything was fine. "Be sure to miss me," she said.

Mrs. Forstein had lived in a state of panic for five years, dating from the evening of Jan. 23, 1945.

After leaving the two children with neighbors that evening, she had shopped briefly in a supermarket and then walked home alone to their three-story house in a Philadelphia suburb. Or had she really been alone?

Whether or not it entered the house with her, something leaped out of the small alcove under the front stairs and attacked her in the darkness.

She had time to scream only once.

Falling, she knocked over the telephone stand, and that may have saved her life. An alarmed operator called the police.

The cops crashed through the front door of the Forstein home to find her lying in a pool of blood. She had a broken jaw, a broken nose, a fractured shoulder, and a brain concussion.

"It wouldn't stop hitting me," she whispered in the hospital. "I don't even know what it was, but I could feel it hitting me — and hitting me."

There was money and jewelry in the house, but nothing had been taken. The motive was intent to kill, said police, by someone or something unknown.

It had entered the house without leaving fingerprints or disturbing the locks on doors and windows. And there was no clue as to how it had left the house, since Dorothy Forstein had locked the front door when she came home.

Judge Forstein had an unimpeachable alibi for the time of the attack. And Mrs. Forstein had no known enemies. More likely the intruder would have been an enemy of her husband's, but months of investigation turned up no suspect.

Though there was a slow physical recovery, Dorothy Forstein never recovered emotionally from the beating. She made a frequent ritual of checking and rechecking the extra locks that had been put on doors and windows. She constantly sought the companionship of relatives and neighbors.

And sometimes during the most festive party she would retreat into deep silence as if she were looking at some private horror.

But she was getting better, Judge Forstein reassured himself when he returned from the banquet that evening.

Inside the dimly lit house, the first thing he heard were the screams of his two small children, Edward and Marcy.

He found them huddled together in a bedroom, crying convulsively.

"It's mamma!" they told him. "Something was here and took mamma away!"

Sick with fright, Forstein searched every room of the house.

She had left her purse, money and keys, but Dorothy Forstein was gone.

Through spasms of grief, Marcy told him what had happened.

She had been awakened by terrifying sounds in the night and had run to her mother's bedroom. But it seemed the sounds were coming from there. Through a crack in the door she saw her mother lying facedown on the rug with a shadowy figure crouching over her.

"She looked sick," the little girl wept.

It was a man she thought. It must have been a man because he spoke to her. That was when he had picked up her mother and thrown her over his shoulder with her head hanging down his back.

He saw the child watching and said, "Go back to sleep. Your mother has been sick, but she'll be all right now."

And he went down the stairway carrying her mother, who was dressed only in red silk pajamas.

When the police came, the hysterical child was questioned again. And again she remembered the intruder as a man, but: "I didn't think so at first. It wasn't like anyone I ever saw before."

The police agreed. There were no fingerprints anywhere, and it seemed incredible to them that any man balancing a woman on his shoulder could have left the house without grasping something for support.

And why had no one tried to stop him when he walked down a busy street carrying an unconscious woman in pajamas? And how did he get into the Forstein home through the multiple locks on the doors and windows?

The police checked every hospital in Philadelphia, as well as rooming houses, rest homes, hotels and the morgue. The search yielded no information about Dorothy.

There would be other eerie questions. "It wouldn't stop hitting me," Dorothy Forstein had said — and though the figure had spoken to her, little Marcy seemed not too certain she'd been talking to a human presence.

Only that it had been something strange, and that it had taken her mother away.

In fact, it had taken her away forever.

More than 10 years later, Dorothy Forstein's body has never been found and her disappearance remains one of the most puzzling on record.

Dorothy left behind her only mystery and the haunting memory of her last puzzling words:

"Be sure to miss me."

Old tales say mistletoe and holly both possess supernatural powers

By CLIFF LINEDECKER

Mistletoe and holly are almost as much a part of Christmas as the holiday tree, but it hasn't always been that way.

There was a time when the traditional Christmas greenery was believed to have supernatural powers, and both mistletoe and holly were closely linked to the old Pagan faiths of Europe.

According to ancient Roman writings, Celtic druids considered mistletoe that grew on oak to be especially sacred and special rites were performed to harvest the plant on the sixth night after the full moon.

White-robed priests cut the mistletoe with golden sickles, and it was caught in white cloth before it could touch the ground and permit its magical powers to leak back into the earth. Two white bulls were sacrificed during the rites.

In certain areas of Scandinavia and Britain, oak mistletoe is still ceremonially harvested each Midsummer's Eve.

The ancients believed that mistletoe offered a warm refuge for woodland spirits during cold weather, so they hung the plant inside their homes. The custom appears to be tied to the practice of using it to decorate homes during the Christmas holidays today.

The origin of the custom of kissing under mistletoe is more difficult to trace.

THIS MYSTERIOUS WORLD

Some people believe it is tied to Norse mythology, which dedicates mistletoe to the goddess of love. Others believe it is linked to the old Roman festival, Saturnalia.

But superstitious folk in some parts of Britain are much less concerned with the origin of the custom than with making certain that Christmas mistletoe is burned on the Twelfth Night.

Otherwise, they warn, some of the young people who kissed under it will ever marry.

The Welsh also believe that holly left in the house after the Twelfth Night will bring on terrible misfortune. There is one exception:

tions before brought into a house will bring good luck throughout the year.

Both holly and mistletoe are believed to provide protection against frightful witches, bloodthirsty demons and evil sorcerers.

According to British legend, witches and other sinister beings can be repelled with holly picked on Christmas Day.

In most of Europe, and in many parts of the United States where Voodoo gods are worshipped, mistletoe hung over doors is said to have the same effect.

Does anyone remember the gutsy Marine on Peleliu Island?

Forgotten hero still fights for his long-awaited medal

By ROSE GRADY

Retired Marine Sgt. Joe Hildago is still waiting for the Medal of Honor he was promised when he saved 15 wounded GIs — by covering a Jap grenade with his own body!

And now the 56-year-old World War 2 vet can't help but wonder why he has been forgotten by the country he has served so heroically.

He already has the Navy Cross — awarded to him when he saved more than 30 other American soldiers in a separate incredible act of combat valor.

"I really want the medal that was promised to me," Joe told The NEWS. "But it's not for myself that I want it — it's for my children . . . for their sake."

It was in the fall of 1944, with the stench of death heavy in a makeshift hospital tent on Peleliu Island, that Pfc. Joe Hildago was willing to make the greatest sacrifice a man can make — his life for the life of another.

The tide of the war had changed by then. The Allied invasion in Europe was going well and in a few months Germany would fall. In the South Pacific, U.S. Marines still faced the hell of Iwo Jima and Okinawa. The atomic bomb would bring Japan to its knees within a year.

But in the hospital tent on Peleliu that day in 1944, Joe was helping mend the shattered bodies of 15 GIs as the sounds of distant guns shook the tiny island.

"I guess a Jap had sneaked up to the hospital and threw a grenade into the tent," Joe recalled. "I heard it thud to the ground.

"I knew that if I didn't do something, a lot of helpless guys were going to die. I grabbed my helmet and slammed it over the grenade. Then I covered the helmet with my body.

"I was pretty badly torn up. But when I woke up, I was on a hospital ship. I was told I had been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor. I'm still waiting for it."

Instead of the Medal of Honor, Joe was awarded the Bronze Star with V for valor. Later, he got the Silver Star, then his Navy Cross. He was wounded a couple of times and has two Purple Hearts.

Joe had entered the war as a 18-year-old from the East Thomas section of Birmingham, Ala., and spent most of his time in battle as a "self-appointed medic and stretcher-bearer.

Joe's military career didn't end with his incredible act of bravery on Peleliu Island. He later served a short stint with the Army before doing a 20-year hitch in the Air Force.

"But in my heart, I'm a Marine," he declared.

Joe retired from military life as a staff sergeant. Now he does odd jobs in Dothan, Ala., where his wife, Mary, runs a beauty salon.

"I wrote to President Reagan last spring, asking what had happened to Joe's Medal of Honor," Mary said. "I even sent his commendations and his medal citations.

"I got a letter back from E.W. Cassidy, head of the Decorations and Medals Branch of the Marine Corps.

"He said there is no evidence that Joe had been recommended for the medal."

Now, Joe and Mary are trying to locate anyone who was on Peleliu Island that day in 1944, and who might remember the day he threw himself on the Jap grenade and saved 15 wounded GIs.

Retired Marine Sgt. Joe Hildago proudly displays his World War 2 medals — and says he's still waiting for a Congressional Medal of Honor he was promised.

MY AMERICA

Hollywood film is glorifying a cowardly thief

This new movie out about that idiot skyjacker D.B. Cooper has gotten me madder than ever at those money-crazed moviemakers in Hollyweird.

"The Pursuit of D.B. Cooper" tells the story of how this sleazy crook threatened to kill the passengers of a 727 jet with a bomb unless he was given $200,000.

The plane landed, the money was delivered, the plane took off and Cooper jumped out with money and a parachute into the dense forests of Washington state.

Since then, the never-captured crook has been made into some kind of hero as if he were Davy Crockett. Songs were written, a fan club was formed and now — a movie.

Well, I don't think this rat-bit criminal is a hero and I'll have my teeth pulled before I let my kids go to that trashy movie.

I may stand alone — like other Americans have — but I don't think out-and-out criminals are heroic. I don't worship Bonnie and Clyde, D.B. Cooper, Adolf Hitler or Attila the Hun.

If I want heroes, I look to the founding fathers of this country who risked everything for freedom.

If I need modern-day heroes, I look to our police or firemen.

People think D.B. Cooper is a hero because he beat the system. He didn't beat the system. He threatened innocent people's lives and stole.

And he didn't do it because he was brave.

He did it because he was too gutless to earn his way with hard work.

The real system beaters are folks like firemen and policemen who have enough courage to take on jobs that help society instead of looking for easy money.

These people know they'll never get rich — but they risk their lives because they have a sense of responsibility to our society.

They know their services are desperately needed and give of themselves in spite of low pay and lousy working conditions.

It's time those greedy movie-makers got their priorities straight and stopped making heroes out of crooks who destroy our society in the name of greed instead of making America strong.

Here's Mickey Mouse's biggest fan

Lupe Morett fell in love with Mickey Mouse when she was just a little girl. Now, almost 50 years later, she's still his most faithful fan and admirer.

The 63-year-old Milwaukee, Wis., graphics designer claims the largest collection of Mickey Mouse memorabilia in the world.

Over the years Lupe has collected hundreds of individual pieces, including dishes, dolls and other bric-a-brac, that feature Mickey and his chums Donald Duck, Minnie, Pluto, Goofy, Horace Horsecollar and Clarabelle Cow.

"I'm 63 years old, but Mickey has kept me young," Lupe told The NEWS. "I fell in love with him when I was a little girl — and those big, gorgeous black eyes, still melt my heart.

"I started with just one piece, a dish with Mickey's picture on it. That started me looking for a dish with Minnie's picture on so I could have a set. I never did find the dish, but now I have more than 900 individual pieces in my collection."

Lupe's love affair with Mickey began when she was a little girl in Guadalajara, Mex. She and the other children in her neighborhood would go to a local theater to cheer and laugh at Mickey's antics on the screen.

But as Lupe grew up, married and had a son, her fondness for Mickey lay dormant, tucked away in a special place deep in her heart. Then in 1953, she left Mexico and brought her son Cesar to Milwaukee.

"One day when Cesar was in his teens, we went to a rummage sale and I saw the Mickey Mouse dish," she recalled. "All the memories of my childhood love for him came flooding back. Then we started looking for a Minnie dish, and we've been hooked on Mickey Mouse collecting ever since."

Now she and Cesar spend much of their time at auctions and rummage sales, searching out new and different pieces to add to their collection.

"One of my favorites is an 18-inch doll of Mickey as a cowboy. He's wearing a cowboy hat and furry chaps. He's so

Fleet-footed doc, 82, is world champ runner

Dr. Paul Spangler is 82 years old — but he's a fleet-footed track whiz who logs an amazing 3,000 miles a year and holds claim to 55 world records.

And the globe-trotting amateur runner is excitedly looking forward to becoming the first person to run a 100 meters race — at the age of 100.

By MICKEY McGUIRE

The ageless speedster began his incredible running at age 67, when he decided to trim the fat from his 190-pound frame.

"At first I was literally running scared," Spangler told The NEWS.

"I was worried about falling victim to hardening of the arteries. It also seemed jogging might help me avoid coronary disease."

The good doctor prescribed the right medicine for himself, because today he is a lean, trim 150 pounds. His blood pressure holds steady at 100/60, and he moves, walks, talks and works with the vitality of a man many years his junior.

He currently holds 55 running records in his age group — 35 of these are at world class, from the 200 meters to the marathon.

Earlier this year Spangler totally dominated a track meet in New Zealand by taking eight of the nine events, some of them in record time.

When he finishes his daily eight-mile roadwork, the San Luis Obispo, Calif., superjock finishes off with a vigorous swim.

"Since I've built up my cardiovascular endurance by running, I can really pour it on and exercise those muscles I don't use for running," he said.

"Three years ago there was both a swimming meet and a track meet going on at the same time in Portland, Oreg. I went crazy, swimming in four events and winning four gold medals.

"Then I ran in six track events and came away with six gold medals!"

Spangler, who admits "I don't like to see anyone ahead of me," said he switched from jogging to competitive running because jogging isn't as much fun.

"That, plus the fact that I set three world records in the first track meet I entered, really got me turned on to competitive running," he added.

Then a recent muscle injury prompted Spangler to try his hand, and feet, at a new event — the walk.

"The injury kept me from running, but I could still walk. In my first try at the event, I set a new American record for my age group," he said.

What have all the gold medals and world records done to change Spangler's life?

"I would have to say they have made me more intolerant of those people who are out of shape and who continue to do absolutely nothing about it," he replied.

"They could improve their health. But they just won't do it.

"You can bet that as long as I'm able to put one foot in front of the other, I'm going to be in there — competing."

Dr. Paul Spangler, above, runs with a young friend and, left, proudly displays a host of medals he has won on the track.

Home-popped corn lands hubby in jail

A moviegoer landed in jail and paid a $100 bond for taking his own home-popped corn into a movie.

When the movie manager told David Schultz that only official, concession stand popped corn was permitted, David refused to give in. Then the manager asked David and his wife, Mary to leave the theater — and the couple refused to budge. In a matter of minutes, four cops arrived to jail David for disturbing the peace.

Do any of these symptoms describe your condition?

Unknown Fears • Fright for No Apparent Reason • Shortness of Breath
Inability to Function Normally • Housebound • Anxiety Attacks

IF SO . . . YOU CAN CONTROL YOUR ANXIETY ATTACKS AND CONQUER YOUR FEARS

There are millions like you — millions who have the same symptoms — millions of creative and sensitive people whose potential for enjoying life to the fullest is held in check by the malady — agoraphobia. Agoraphobics are not irrational people, but rather victims of a "fear cycle". The Agoraphobic, once symptoms are initiated, cannot calm down, but becomes enveloped in a "cycle of fear" with persisting panic rising and falling in varying degrees on a daily basis, sometimes for the rest of their lives.

Wanting desperately to function normally, the agoraphobic goes from doctor to doctor seeking an answer only to be repeatedly told, "Get hold of yourself" or "It's only your nerves". Often drugs are prescribed that may alleviate some of the symptoms, but will not alter the basic distress.

Now for the first time the millions who suffer daily from the anxiety-fear syndrome can be taught:

- how to control their symptoms when they strike
- how to ease feelings of panic
- how to alleviate anxiety

Boy preacher goes

Dynamic Eddi Lord is a firebrand preacher who can stir a congregation into a foot-stomping frenzy, send powerful men reeling at his slightest touch — and he's only 11 years old!

The baseball-loving boy messenger of God travels 100,000 miles a year bringing Jesus to the hearts of all who will listen to his passionate sermons.

By SUZANNE VLAMIS

"Eddi is the most incredible, inspiring preacher I've ever seen," said a believer in Flint, Mich. "He makes you feel the presence of God in your very soul, like no one else can.

"There's no way of telling how many souls he's saved, but I'm sure thousands owe their salvation to him."

Astonishingly, Eddi got his calling from God as he stood on the back porch of his home in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., when he was just 4 years old.

"There was just something saying to me, 'Eddi, I want you to preach right now!' " he recalled.

"So I talked about this with my dad and he didn't argue with God."

The freckled-faced evangelist spends three out of every four weeks on the road with his parents and his older brother Michael, also a preacher.

When he isn't barnstorming, Eddi plays pool or baseball and goes swimming with girlfriend Kim Malloy at the family's home in Columbus, Ga.

"I don't think of myself as so much different from other boys," he said.

But in churches all over America, the tiny ball of fire shows awe-struck worshipers how different he really is.

Dressed in a small white tuxedo and ruffled shirt, Eddi prances, sings and shouts passages from the Bible, his blond curls bouncing as he moves across the front of the church.

"Just don't say the prayer, mean it!" he demands.

"Sing Gloria, Gloria, Hallelujah!"

The congregation is soon dancing, singing, clapping hands and stomping feet along with him.

Worshipers begin calling out in strange tongues. A frail girl sways in front of the little preacher, then closes her eyes and sinks to the floor when he anoints her with the delicate touch of his fingers.

Eddi touches the forehead of a hulking, 280-pound man. The giant's body goes rigid and he falls backwards, caught by two men.

Followers say Eddi's "laying on of hands" brings the Holy Ghost into their bodies.

"Let God's word be true," the child shouts. "If God says you do something, you do it.

"Everybody! Lift up your hands and say, 'I love Jesus.' "

Eddi said he has no trouble delivering powerful sermons because God writes them for him.

"I would get up there and have nothing at all to say if God didn't put the words in my mouth," he said.

The youngster said that while his life is exhausting and he spends most of his time cut off from other kids, he never feels isolated.

"I never feel alone because Jesus is always by my side," he said. "When you have Jesus in your heart, you always have a good feeling about yourself."

...els 100,000 miles a year to save souls

...to bat for the Lord

...body . . . say aloud . . . I love Jesus!'

5-step cure for an aching back

Surgeon gets amazing results with easy 15-minute exercise plan

By DEE WHITTINGTON

You can prevent lower back pain and feel healthier than ever before with five simple exercises developed by one of the nation's leading orthopedic surgeons.

The exercises take only a few minutes a day and you'll feel the difference almost immediately, says Dr. Hugo Keim, of Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York City and associate professor of clinical orthopedic surgery at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

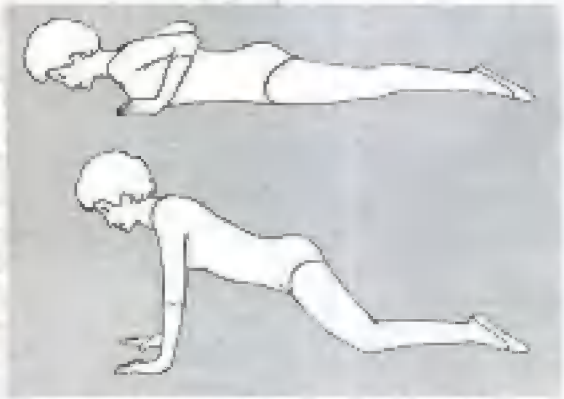
"I have taught my five preventive exercises to literally hundreds of patients and can honestly say that if they are done exactly as I describe, on a daily basis, almost everyone will show a marked improvement," claims Dr. Keim in his latest book, "How to Care for Your Back" (Prentice-Hall, $12.95).

"The idea is to put your body through a series of repetitious physical activities and to keep increasing the repetitions as the months and years go by, as you put the ligaments, tendons, the muscular system and cardiovascular system through a proper coordination program that maintains your physical fitness."

Work your way up slowly, starting with a few repetitions of each exercise and building to a higher number every three days, Keim suggests. But the key is to make time for the routine every day.

"We set aside three times a day to eat. We waste hours in front of television sets and spend hours talking with friends and family.

Certainly a mere 15 minutes a day to spend on our bodies is not too much to ask for the incredible rewards that follow," Keim said.



At first, do the beginner's pushup with the knees remaining on the floor. Later you can begin toe-type pushups.

As with any new exercise routine, check with a physician before you begin, especially if you are over 35 or have any medical problems, Keim suggests.

Then do the exercises slowly and gradually, relaxing as much as possible.

Here are Keim's five basic exercises to prevent back pain — that ailment that affects 75 million Americans:

• Jumping jacks. The simple jumping jack should be done smoothly — without any jerking movements. Start with about 20, then increase the number every few days after the first week.

Perform the toe touch in a gentle arc from side to side as shown.

• Pushup. Unless you're in top physical condition, start with a kneeling position. After you're limbered up in a week or two, you can attempt the regular pushup with toes on the ground. Four or five pushups a day is all you should try for the first week or 10 days, then increase the number gradually.

• Sit-up. Keep knees bent so you're forcing the abdominal muscles to contract. With arms extended and level with your ears, reach out until you can touch your toes, then lean back. You may want to hook your toes under the bed or other heavy object for support. Do only five or six a day to start with, then work your way up to 20 or so, but very gradually. This is good for your tummy muscles, too.

• Run in place. Pick your feet up at least six inches off the floor and start with only 30 steps.

"Running in place is somewhat boring," Keim admits, "and if you watch television or watch yourself in a full-length mirror, you will find it easier to do.

"I am not an exercise nut and frankly do not enjoy exercises," Keim confesses. "I realize how difficult it is to get up out of bed, a soft chair or to come home after a hard day's work and try to make yourself exercise, but I have found that if I set my clock to go off just 15 minutes earlier in the morning, I can do my five basic preventive exercises for low back pain daily. This routine has kept me in excellent physical muscle tone."

Dear Friend!

How would you like to be able to say a few words and transform an ordinary piece of glass into a MAGIC MIRROR which will produce all the riches, love, power, health and happiness you wish to create in your life?

Or how would you like to be able to say four power words to someone MAGIC SAGE who will come to your command any time you want him? Or say four other power words to help find lost people or treasure? Or cast words to heal an area of your body?

Now it's possible to do all these things and more—with the Miracle Power of OMNI-COSMICS. OMNI-COSMICS will enable you to perform the so-called "impossible" feats. With it, you will be able to create a paradise on earth for yourself and for all those you love.

My name is Ann Fisher, and I'll tell you more about this amazing offer in just a minute, but first let me show you all the things OMNI-COSMICS will help you do . . .

- Produce money "from out of thin air".
- Make dreams and wishes come true.
- Control the thoughts of others.
- Find lost people and treasure.
- Avoid problems before they arise by looking into the future.
- Win money on a horse race or a lottery.
- Travel safely to faraway lands.
- Turn thoughts into solid material things.
- Repel black magic or voodoo attacks.
- Find your perfect mate and achieve mental happiness.

YOU WILL BE ABLE TO PRODUCE MONEY "FROM OUT OF THIN AIR!"

I'll show you how to use OMNI-COSMICS to achieve endless streams of wealth. And I'll tell you right now that whatever you desire, you can have—I MEAN ANYTHING—and it can be obtained quickly and easily.

You may want a new car, a new home, a swimming pool, a mink coat, a diamond ring, an exclusive apartment, a fabulous vacation, some money to clear up your debts, or an income for life of say $20,000, $30,000 or even $100,000.

Well now, with OMNI-COSMICS, you'll see how to materialize the miraculous things you desire . . . You can become as wealthy as you wish . . . You can live like a king and never want again! You look:

- POOR WOMAN WINS $100,000—Florence, a woman in her forties, was short of money for years. I mean she was really poor. Her shabby clothes came from friends or the Salvation Army. She hadn't bought anything new for herself in many years. But six weeks after using an OMNI-COSMICS technique I showed her, a miracle happened to Florence—she won an whopping $100,000 after buying an Irish Sweepstakes ticket.
- FACTORY WORKER WINS $1,000 A WEEK FOR LIFE—John R., a factory worker, was desperately in need of money for his rent, car payments and a pile of unpaid bills. He was disappointed and unhappy and he could see no help in sight. But after doing an OMNI-COSMICS ritual I showed him, he bought a lottery ticket which paid $1,000 a week for life—enough to pay all his bills, take a long trip with his family, and build a new home!
- STUDENT PICKS NINE WINNERS IN A ROW—David A. needed money to go to college in the fall. He had never been lucky at the races. But he decided to try OMNI-COSMICS to finance his college education anyway. After performing the right ritual, he went to the track and picked out all nine winners and came home with a grand total of $1,600—which was enough for college that fall!

YOU WILL BE ABLE TO CONTROL THE THOUGHTS OF OTHERS—WITHOUT EVEN SAYING A WORD TO THEM!

With this Power, you can get the lover you want, change the attitude of a troublesome child, get a friend or neighbor to respond to your requests, or get a boss to give you that raise or promotion you feel you deserve. You can influence a person to see it your way or do the things you want him to . . .

. . . you can stimulate the person's memory process, move his fingertips make him do what you want, repeat the words you want him to say, and do many other things. It does work. No one can resist this command power. See for yourself!

- GIRL GOT BOY-FRIEND TO PROPOSE MARRIAGE—Marilyn K. was in love with Kevin. They had dated for two years and were very much in love, but Kevin was shy and couldn't muster up enough courage to propose. Marilyn then tried my method of connecting Kevin's subconscious mind and suggesting that he propose. Later—out of the blue—Kevin popped the question!
- WOMAN GETS PROMOTION AND DOUBLES HER SALARY—Judy K. wanted to be promoted to a new position that was opening up where she worked. She knew she could handle the job, but she wanted a chance to prove herself. A few weeks after she used an OMNI-COSMICS technique to tap her boss's mind, she was called into his office and given the job. A year later, she doubled her salary!

What's more, with the Miracle Power of OMNI-COSMICS, you'll be able to know the innermost thoughts of people in the next room or thousands of miles away—or even what a person is thinking when you talk to him on the telephone!

USE OMNI-COSMICS TO PROGRAM A PROTECTIVE FORCE AROUND YOU!

Today we live in an age with many negative influences around us. If you believe that voodoo and psychic assault does not exist in this Twentieth Century, you are incorrect. Negative forces do exist, today and they are active.

Now, with OMNI-COSMICS, you can build a protective force around you so that you will have nothing to fear at all. That's just what John and Pamela did—and look at how they were saved . . .

- INVISIBLE FORCE SAVES MAN FROM DROWNING—John K., a fine swimmer, went out too far one day. When he was in the middle of the lake and there was no one in sight, he became very tired and started to sink. Somehow John, a regular user of OMNI-COSMICS, was saved. He didn't know how he got back to shore for he had felt an invisible force carrying him over the top of the waves to land safely. OMNI-COSMICS saved him from drowning!
- OMNI-COSMICS SAVES LIFE OF YOUNG LADY—Pamela, a young student in one of my classes who habitually used the protective powers of OMNI-COSMICS, was driving on a city street one day and heard a voice say "Stop or you will be killed." It was lucky she did, for another car went through the intersection at a high rate of speed. She would have been killed or seriously injured if she had not stopped.

You'll also see how, with OMNI-COSMIC protective powers, other people were able to repel a black magic attack . . . reverse a voodoo curse . . . travel with safety . . . get saved from a gang gang assault . . . and much more. THEY DID IT—AND SO CAN YOU!

SEE HOW TO USE OMNI-COSMIC POWER FOR INSTANT HEALING!

Do you want perfect health? OMNI-COSMIC healing power will respond immediately when you use the right power ritual. After a while, all illness and pain will disappear!

- OVERCOMES SERIOUS KIDNEY AILMENT—Tony T., a dear friend of mine, had just found out that he had a very serious kidney ailment. His doctor told him that his condition would shorten his life and that he "needed rest." But last month after he used an OMNI-COSMICS health ritual I showed him, his doctors were amazed to discover that his kidneys were in perfect working condition and that no signs of illness existed.
- HEALS ULCER AND IMPROVES BAD HEART CONDITION—Perry had a very bad heart condition and also a serious ulcer. His doctor wanted to remove his ulcer, but was afraid to operate because of the heart condition. But when Perry went back to his doctor after using an OMNI-COSMICS ritual I showed him, his ulcer had healed and his heart condition was greatly improved!

With my PERFECT HEALTH ritual, soon you will feel your body becoming stronger, healthier and more dynamic. I DID IT—SO YOU CAN! Just look . . .

Arthur Godfrey

Gutsy Arthur Godfrey is back on the air

Q. What's this I hear about Arthur Godfrey returning to radio? I thought he had to retire because of a serious health condition. — Lena McQueen, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. Cancer first struck the famed radio man in 1969 and doctors had to remove a lung. His life was given a year to live, but that was 22 years ago. Now, Godfrey is 78 and frail, often depending on oxygen machines to help him breathe. But he won't give up and has recently started a series of three-minute commentaries for radio. Currently, his little spots are carried in 10 markets across the country, but his producers expect business to boom because of his popularity.

'Soap' actress is in 'Time Bandits' flick

Q. What's happened to that wonderful actress Katherine Helmond who starred as Jessica in the wacky series "Soap?" — Mike Peronio, Seattle, Wash.

The Moral Majority may have knocked "Soap" off U.S. TV, but it hasn't destroyed the show's popularity. "Soap" is the rage on English TV and plans are underway to make several "Soap" movies. Meanwhile, Katherine is starring in the new film "Time Bandits" and is on a promotional tour for the movie. Her "Soap" co-star Richard Mulligan recently starred in the movie "S.O.B."

Katherine Helmond

Harrison had role in 'Centennial'

Q. I love watching Gregory Harrison in "Trapper John, M.D." and that new movie "For Ladies Only." Has didn't he also have a role in "Shogun?" — Irma Fredericks, St. Paul, Minn.

A. You've got the right guy, but the wrong mini-series. Handsome Greg was one of the many stars in the mini-series "Centennial." He played the Amish storekeeper Levi Zendt.

Ann-Margret fears for hubby's health

Q. Is it true that singer-dancer Ann-Margret is suffering from a rare disease? — George Lipschultz, Dallas, Tex.

A. Ann-Margret is fit as a fiddle at age 40. But her husband-manager Roger Smith is suffering from a rare muscular disorder — myasthenia gravis — which causes a sudden loss of muscle power. Ann-Margret was set to retire to nurse Roger when doctors said his case was near hopeless. Now [illegible] believe that he has a mild case.

'Dynasty' star tells how her plans to marry led to heartbreak

I lost Warren Beatty's love over a wedding ring, says Joan Collins

By PATRICIA IRWIN

"Dynasty's" new star Joan Collins says pressure to get married wrecked her sizzling love affair with Hollywood's famous Don Juan, Warren Beatty.

TV NEWS

The sultry 48-year-old star was 27 when she began a torrid affair with the handsome young American actor, who has become more famous for his love conquests than his movies.

They had been living together for a year and were perfectly happy until talk of marriage entered their lives.

"Our friends started saying: 'Why don't you two get married?' Then Warren and I said: 'Well, maybe we should get married.'

"Then we decided to get married and we started having terrible fights. I think if our friends hadn't bothered us — we would have had a long-lasting relationship."

The dark-haired actress has become known as "Britain's bad girl" for her many love affairs with famous men like Beatty, Robert Wagner, hotel tycoon Nicky Hilton, Ryan O'Neal and even Egypt's late King Farouk, who used to send her a dozen roses every day.

Now happily married to producer Ron Kass, the twice-divorced Joan believes that women should wait until their 30s before tying the knot and have exciting love affairs until then.

"How can a woman with a life expectancy of 75 or 80 want to be with one man?" she said. "I can't — I honestly can't. At least I couldn't when I was younger.

"Marriage can often be a trap. I myself didn't find the right husband until the third time around — when I was in my middle 30s.

"That's the right time for marriage — not a second before."

Joan feels she was forced by tradition into her first marriage at 17 to actor Maxwell Reed.

"I was just a kid. I didn't even want to get married," she recalled. "I said to my parents: 'Can't I just live with him instead?' But they brought me up very strictly. After I slept with him, I married him because I had a sense of guilt."

Following her divorce from Reed four years later, Joan plunged into the party life. Shortly, after her affair with Beatty, she wed English singer-dancer-actor Anthony Newley. The stormy marriage lasted six years and produced two children.

"I believe you can have a better relationship without marriage," said Joan.

"No girl should get married until she's at least 30. I've seen so many women at 35 who have teenage children and nothing to do.

"Women are so eager to get married that in a few years, they find life has passed them by."

Joan is happily married now to Kass and they have a 16-year-old daughter. Despite being two years shy of 50 years old, Joan still plays sexpot roles.

Her figure and beauty rival those of actresses half her age. "Dynasty" hired her to play the ex-wife of tycoon Blake Carrington, played by John Forsythe, knowing she'd add spice, class and a bit of evil.

Joan refuses to let her age stop her from being a sex symbol. Just two years ago, she wowed British audiences by doing a nude scene in the movie "The Stud," based on a book written by her sister Jackie.

"Women in their 40s are no longer considered over-the-hill, especially if they stay sexy and attractive," said Joan.

"For women, being in that age bracket can be the prime of their life. I'm in my prime right now."

Warren Beatty and Joan Collins were head over heels in love 20 years ago. But when they decided to marry, they began to fight and the friction ended in a heartbreaking split.

One of Joan's many loves was "Hart" star Robert Wagner. He "Dynasty" producers decided to add more spice to John Forsythe's (center) life so they hired Joan.

Here are perfect holiday gifts for Hollywood's big-shot stars

By REX WINSTON

I'm bringing an overflow sack of Christmas gifts for my favorite big shots in television. Hoo Boy! This time these stars are going to get exactly what they deserve.

Let me go over my list one last time. Just to make sure everything is packed.

Michael Landon — A deed to the Grand Canyon, so Michael can have a place big enough to park his gigantic ego on the weekends.

Erma Bombeck — A crying towel for the complaining-est housewife. When her "Maggie" series got canned, she blamed everybody (the network, the actors, the sponsors) but herself. And that's exactly where the blame lies for this monster of a disaster.

Larry (J.R. Ewing) Hagman — A 20-gallon hat. Nasty Larry's head is so big, a 10-gallon hat can't handle the job.

Suzanne Somers — A cork for her mouth. Any dumb blonde who talks her way out of a $35,000 a week job on "Three's Company" needs something to keep her trap shut tight. Acting lessons would be a fitting stocking stuffer.

Alan Alda — A history book. Someone should tell Alan that the real Korean War lasted only 3 years. His "M*A*S*H" series has been patching up the wounded now for 8 years. War may be hell, but "M*A*S*H" turned to trash years ago.

Michael Landon needs a place to store his giant ego.

Tony Randall — A gold medal for having the guts to stand up to those nearsighted pressure groups who stupidly protested his "Love, Sidney" show before they even saw the first episode.

Gary Coleman — A little parental guidance. If my kid was pulling down a million bucks a year, I'd make sure he showed up for work. On time. Neatly dressed. Gary's one-man strike against "Diff'rent Strokes" this year has got to rank with the all-time most disgusting stunts in show business.

Howard Cosell — An autographed copy of the record "Silence Is Golden." And if that doesn't work, a Muhammad Ali-sized punch right in humble Howard's big mouth.

Angie Dickinson — Another chance at TV stardom. Angie is one of the few truly nice people left in Hollywood and she's earned a second try.

Marie Osmond — A lifetime gift-certificate that is good for a malted milk a day. This Skinny Minnie needs to put some meat on her bones. She's already horribly thin on talent.

Wayne Rogers — A pin to burst his bubble. This bubblehead already got his "House Calls" costar Lynn Redgrave fired. Now he wants to triple his salary. For what? This jerk is a big zero in the acting department.

24 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Frank Sinatra Show
Dec. 18, 1957
9 p.m.

Frank Sinatra

Tonight's episode: Erin O'Brien is Frank's guest. She sings "I'm Glad There Is You." She and Frank duet on "Let's Get Away From It All." Frank's songs included "Wrap Your Troubles in Dreams," "I Get Along Without You Very Well."

Even though Of Blue Eyes was a dud when he first starred on TV in 1950, ABC was so sure Frankie would be a hit the second time around that the network shelled out $2 million for his services. Frank had so many big money ideas for his new show, too.

He was going to do a combination drama-variety series. Unfortunately, Frank's big ideas (and ABC's $2 million) went down the drain in one short, low-rated season. Actually, Frank had no one to blame but himself. He rarely rehearsed for his TV show, preferring to spend his time working on movies and records. By the time Frank woke up to the sad truth and decided to save his show, it was too late.

His last-ditch effort was to turn the show strictly into a musical. When that failed, the show was killed.

. . . Now, it's your turn

Liz Taylor ought to face the facts and admit she's no kid

I tuned in to Bob Hope's football special and, oh my goodness, who did I see? Elizabeth Taylor — and she was simply awful!

I mean, she was chubby and looked like a painted-up Indian.

I'm pushing 60 and I can remember back when Elizabeth and I both looked fairly attractive. I'm willing to admit that I'm no spring chicken anymore. I think Liz ought to realize the same thing and try to act her age.

She's a nice-looking woman but she is about 50 years old and like most of us she's put on a few extra pounds. There's nothing wrong with that — if you don't flutter around like a teenager.

Some men can get away with trying to act young in their old age — but I can't think of a woman who can get away with it without looking downright foolish. And Liz certainly looked foolish. God bless her.

Mrs. Minnie Parker,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Frank's the best

It was a pleasure to see the greatest entertainer of them all, Frank Sinatra, on television with his special show.

Nobody can hold a candle to Frankie when it comes to singing or putting on a show.

His voice is still great and, best of all, he dresses and acts like a gentleman. Nowadays when entertainers think they have to dress up like freaks and act like a bunch of animals, it is refreshing to see a real entertainer and gentleman who has class and style.

I wish these rock 'n' rollers and slouchy country stars would follow our Frankie's example.

Margaret Lowe,

New super-food pill:

"3 hours later, I was still bouncing around. I felt terrific!"

with DMG, the supernutrient pill. Will you, too, have more energy and stamina at work, at play, at night with your spouse? Can DMG help prevent disease, even add years to your life?"

by Douglas Laurence, Nutrition Writer and Holistic Health Expert

"My name is Douglas Laurence. Some of you will already recognize it. I write extensively for many national magazines on nutrition, holistic health and on ways you can make your body and mind work together optimally.

"I am often sought as a consultant by vitamin and mineral distributors to better help people understand what it is they are selling, how it works, and what consumers most need to know. After all, most doctors will say that you don't need vitamin or nutrient supplementation if you maintain a well-balanced diet. However, you and I both know that many nutritional experts routinely supplement their own diets, and make the same recommendations to their patients, to be absolutely certain they obtain all the nutrients they need.

"In any event, because of my reputation, I have never before allowed any one of my clients to attach my name to any of their products. Until now. That's how strongly I feel about DMG.

"When the people at BodyScience, Inc. asked me to help develop a consumer information program, I just accepted it as another job. N, N-Dimethylglycine, or DMG, is a naturally occurring nutrient found in many of our food sources. Even though extracting it is expensive, when I tried DMG, I did so with little expectation; more simply as a matter of rote to satisfy an enthusiastic client.

WHAT A NIGHT!

"Three hours later I was still bouncing around. My thinking and concentration abilities were as keen as I can remember them in years. I walked home briskly—a distance of several miles—with absolutely no strain. I did my shopping, and remembered to buy a bottle of champagne for a very special woman whom I was seeing that night. And, what a night! I was convinced that the romance effects I felt were from the DMG and not just my beautiful companion.

"Naturally, the next day I had to find out why DMG appeared so effective. Believe it or not, the great majority of doctors I talked to had not even heard of it and viewed my reactions with the usual skepticism. But then, they hadn't yet seen the published research reports of doctors and immunologists in California and South Carolina.

SCIENTIFIC PROOF!

"University tests in Los Angeles and Charleston indicate that DMG may help your body prevent infection and disease as well as speed recovery time. Moreover, DMG may help you increase your uptake and efficient utilization of oxygen. So, when you're under strain, you feel exertion less, you breathe more normally and you have far greater stamina. The tests were complex, but I will try to make it as simple as possible to understand.

"In one controlled double-blind study, doctors confirmed that DMG in humans enhances the body's immune responses. This human study, as well as earlier animal studies, confirms DMG's impact on both parts of the immune system. Antibody production is increased (these are molecules which help neutralize infections and harmful bacteria) and lymphocyte generation is also increased (these are white blood cells which are primarily responsible for the destruction of foreign—disease causing—substances).

"In this study, lymphocytes from normal individuals and those with diabetes and sickle cell anemia were tested for their ability to induce the immune response. All three groups who used DMG showed a significant increase of lymphocyte (white blood cell) production as compared to the control group who did not use DMG.

"Many people have an insufficient or damaged immune response system, such as older people, those experiencing chemotherapy and other radiation therapies, burn patients, people recovering from surgery, and those suffering from advanced degenerative diseases. This study shows that DMG, like other nutrients such as Vitamins A and C and the mineral zinc, is beneficial for any individual with a low immune response activity.

"In other tests, doctors demonstrated that DMG enhances oxygen utilization. DMG lowered the concentration of lactic acid in the blood of animals under severe mental and physical stress. Lactic acid is formed by the tissues under low-oxygen conditions, such as extreme exercise, or when the body is in shock, or during the stress of surgery. When rabbits exposed to severe surgical stress were given DMG, their uptake and utilization of oxygen increased, leaving blood pressure and respiration completely normal.

"When fed DMG under controlled laboratory conditions, rats were shown to increase oxygen uptake in low oxygen environments.

"These findings suggest that DMG may allow the cells to continue normal functioning even under adverse (low oxygen) conditions. This shows that DMG may benefit athletes who experience pain, muscle cramping, and fatigue; individuals undergoing surgery or suffering from degenerative diseases; and others who require greater oxygen efficiency.

"Increased oxygen efficiency at the cellular level has a significant impact on the performance of the mind and body. I've been using DMG now for several months with unbelievable results!

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

"Of course, in the end, it's what DMG does for you that really counts. Doctors may yet be skeptical and I can only tell you what it has done for me and others. How it has improved "romance" for many of us; how many of us think more clearly and remember better, how our stamina and endurance have improved remarkably; how it has helped protect against illness and improve recovery. But, unless it makes a difference in your life, this is all meaningless. That's why BodyScience, Inc., is making this incredible offer on my recommendation.

"Use it for 30 days—entirely at their risk. That's right. If, for any reason during your 30-day trial period, you don't agree with me that DMG is better than good—that it is, in fact, superb—simply return the unused portion—even the empty bottle—for a full and prompt refund. (I know that very few of you will return it; indeed, I believe most of you will reorder it! That's how sure I am of it.)

"Really, when you think about it, what can you lose? I personally believe that all you can do is gain—gain energy, gain in work, gain in your love life, perhaps even, as Jaye Robertson's husband did, gain something no amount of money can buy—time!

"To order, simply write DMG on a plain piece of paper with your name, address, city, state and zip code. Enclose it with your check or money order for $19.95 for a 2-month supply. (ppd.) (A single 1-month size is available for $12.95, ppd.) Make out your check or money order to BodyScience, Inc. (N.Y. & Ct. res. add sales tax.) Mail to Dept. BTG153 P.O. From 50 angina attacks a day to "a perpetual honeymoon." Jaye Robertson says DMG revitalized her dying husband!

Alive—A much healthier looking Bill.

(The following is an excerpt of an actual letter we received from Jaye Robertson. Though no one can guarantee results like these for you, we think you will agree it is a most exciting testimonial to a product's performance. Jaye asked us to publish her letter and did not request any money for it. BodyScience, Inc., has sent her a token payment, under advice of legal counsel, for the use of her name and photographs.)

"In August 1976, my husband, Bill, had a severe heart condition which required triple bypass surgery. The diagnosis after surgery gave him 6 weeks to 2 months to live. We took him to all the famous heart surgeons. The best one said he couldn't operate. In fact, he couldn't even buy him time. All others confirmed that diagnosis.

"By this time, his arteriosclerosis was so rampant that he had 50–55 angina attacks a day. He was an invalid and I had to spoon-feed him. We were getting desperate. We read about DMG, a new nutrient called a metabolic enhancer, which could sometimes assist in easing arteriosclerosis by delivering more oxygen to the bloodstream. We tried DMG. All we could do was hope.

"Two weeks after he started taking the DMG formula he was down to 5–7 angina attacks a day. By the fifth week, no more angina. It was, indeed, a miracle! He was reborn. Life had been given back to him. In fact, my husband was feeling so good, our romance was like a perpetual honeymoon. He even told me his arthritis was better.

"I am not a doctor. I don't know how these things work. All I can tell you is that it gave my husband new life for four years, and if it could give a dying man life, imagine what it could do for a healthy person."

Jaye R.

Doctors report amazing relief from agonizing arthritis pain: joint food from the sea!

GREEN-LIPPED New Zealand Mussel said to help lubricate joints so swelling decreases and patients walk without pain. Hundreds of doctors recommending it. Does it really work?

Almost incredible relief from the agonizing pains of arthritis have been reported recently by doctors, thanks to a truly unique New Zealand shellfish, the Green-Lipped Mussel.

Once used only experimentally in cancer research, it is now available by mail to arthritis sufferers, in concentrated freeze-dried tablet form. It's manufactured by the company that makes the Official Vitamins of the 1981 World Games.

The name of this safe, completely natural product is Sea-10. It is prepared fresh from the sea, in a special way that doesn't destroy or inactivate its valuable constituents and contains no additives whatsoever.

Fishermen haul in arthritis breakthrough!

Its effectiveness is believed to be at least partially due to its apparent ability to help thicken the synovial fluid that lubricates the joints so it doesn't become watery and leak through tiny holes in the membrane.

Doctors around the world are recommending it to their patients. Here are some case histories from the files of N.Y.'s Dr. Charles Pedalino.

"Every time my wife picked up a dish, she dropped it, due to swelling of the fingers. After 3 months of taking the nutrients in Sea-10, swelling has decreased and her grip is much stronger.

"Helen A. was 250 pounds, with swollen joints, and could walk only very slowly. After 4 months of these amazing pills, she can walk faster and without pain.

"Mrs. L., after 2 months on this special shellfish concentrate, could again put her thumb through a cup handle, which was impossible before because of the swelling.

"Mrs. P. was unable to move about without pain all over. She greatly improved in 2 months.

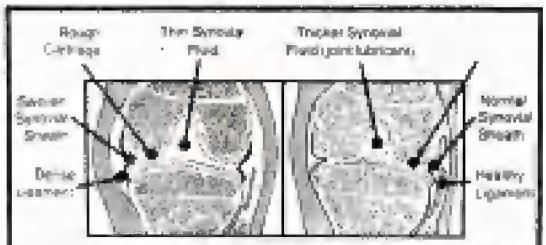
"John N., 70 years old, had arthritis in his neck. After 4 months he could move it with no pain.

"Mrs. Frank G., 94, took the Sea-10 ingredients for 4 months. Swelling disappeared around the joints and she was able to walk without difficulty."

Is the relief Sea-10 is said to bring, due to positive thinking? It's not likely. The manufacturer points out that animals that have been given this shellfish concentrate certainly aren't influenced by positive thinking, and even they have responded favorably.

Hundreds of doctors are already recommending this remarkable concentrated food to their patients. Letters are pouring in to the maker from grateful users all over the world.

Top professional athletes are among the greatest enthusiasts.



INFLAMED KNEE: Before using the Sea-10 ingredients.

HEALTHY KNEE: After using the Sea-10 ingredients which help thicken lubricant between joints to relieve painful friction.

for it seems to function as a rejuvenating agent and speed the repair of the body after illness or injury.

News of this arthritis breakthrough is spreading fast by word of mouth, newspapers, radio, and TV reports. As a result, in three recent months alone, sales of the Sea-10 ingredients have tripled.

It has absolutely no additives. It won't interfere with medication. And it has none of the serious side effects that drugs can cause.

It takes 100 lbs. of mussel to make 4 lbs. of Sea-10. It supplies over 40 natural elements, including 18 amino acids—nature's protein building blocks—and over 22 minerals. Most important, it has the ocean's own natural mineral balance, which is similar to that of the body, and the minerals are in naturally chelated form for easy absorption by the body.

Does it really work? Does it work for some and not others, as Vitamin C is believed by some to do? This much is certain. Many are convinced they have benefited greatly. And the distributor offers it on a money-back guarantee.

A bottle contains 250 tablets. One or two bottles will normally produce noticeable results. In extreme cases, more is needed. It's sent direct, fresh from the distributor, and the minimum shelf life is two years.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

- Cancer research in the '60s stumbled on the pain relieving properties of the Green-Lipped Mussel. Not on cancer pain, but on arthritis pain.
- This mussel is found only in unpolluted, pure coastal waters. No malignancy has ever been reported in it.
- Most amazing, it doesn't age or die like humans. It stays young and keeps growing until it finally dies about 70–80 years old—only because its nutrient and energy needs outstrip the ability of its environment to supply these needs.
- Curiously, too, it has been associated with increased sperm motility in animals.
- Like oysters, eggs, and whole wheat, it is a complete organism, not just part or parts of one, so it may even contain nutrients not yet discovered.

Rosalind Newton has an easy remedy for stress.

Expert tells how to relax — just listen

You can reduce stress and improve your relationships with loved ones and co-workers simply by learning to be a better listener, says one of the nation's top experts.

"Tensions in interpersonal relations are the main causes of stress on the job or at home," declared Rosalind Newton, a stress management consultant to major companies and government agencies.

"Very few of us really listen to what others say. We impose our values on them. Taking the time to listen shows that we appreciate and respect their views and feelings.

"By following some basic techniques for effective listening, your work and your home life will be more productive, less tense and far freer from stress and strain."

The Los Altos, Calif., consultant offers NEWS readers these tips to become a better listener:

- Think of any problem as an onion — you can't get down to the bottom of it until you have peeled off the top layers.

"The outer layer of the problem is often clouded with anger or other strong emotions and that's the layer someone often presents first," says Miss Newton. "If you, the listener, interrupts and immediately responds with advice, humor or other digressions, the speaker won't be prompted to reveal more of his feelings or address the deeper issues. Allow him to explain fully and clearly without interrupting him needlessly."

- Don't be judgmental. Avoid phrases like, "I think you should do this." Instead, says Miss Newton, say something like, "Would this help?"
- Make good eye contact with the person speaking.
- Encourage him to speak by using "door opener" phrases like, "Tell me more about it," or "What happened then?"
- Try to sense the emotions behind the speaker's words.
- Probe for more information by asking who, what, when, where or how, but don't ask why questions.

Girl incredibly heals mangled foot — with hypnosis

By DICK DONOVAN

Coed Tracy Kitto was a tragic cripple after she lost part of her heel in a motorcycle accident. But she is making her deformed foot repair itself — through hypnotism!

By using an incredible rejuvenating power as old as life itself, Tracy has been able to cast aside the crutches she needed for almost two years.

And now she wears shoes and walks with only a slight limp, an incredible physical achievement that has stunned the medical world.

The lovely, dark-eyed 16-year-old girl is returning to a normal, healthy life through the fantastic work of Joseph Keeton, a medical hypnotist in Liverpool, England.

Keeton hypnotized Tracy and took her down to the deepest reaches of her mind to search out the known and unknown imperfections of her psyche. And when she found them, she was told to make them right.

"I kept her going deeper and deeper into her primeval past," Keeton told The NEWS. "I told her to go down to the deepest part of her brain where the knowledge of regeneration is stored.

"In the womb, the whole of evolution from a single cell, multi-cell, jellyfish, fish, a reptile — is compressed into nine months.

"And somewhere in that memory of what went before, we — all of us — know how to regenerate limbs. That's what Tracy is doing. She's regenerating — regrowing — that part of the heel she lost in the accident."

The hypnotherapy was suggested to the Kitto family by Tracy's physician, Dr. A.G. Reid and, in the beginning, was met with some skepticism.

"I had some serious doubts that it would help me and, at first, I turned the idea down," Tracy said. "But then I realized that I really had little if anything to lose and decided to give it a try.

"Actually, it was a bit of an adventure and I'm very happy that I decided to go ahead with Dr. Reid's suggestion. It's made all the difference in my life."

And it was a decision that her father, Kenneth, won't ever regret, either.

"I was against it at first," he explained. "I wasn't at all keen on having Tracy hypnotized. She was in very low spirits at the time and I didn't want to raise any false hopes.

"Her foot isn't perfect by any means. But it's a great deal better. The bone has grown and the flesh has filled out. Her foot is getting more and more like a foot every day. The mental effect has been tremendous."

Tracy's amazing regeneration of her foot was confirmed by Dr. Reid.

"The bone has grown, which is not what one would have expected in a girl of Tracy's age . . . with that sort of injury," he said.

"In Tracy's case, half the heel bone was missing as a result of the accident she had when she was 14. The hypnosis has been a tremendous benefit to her."

"When Tracy came out of the hospital, her foot looked just like a hununa," her father added. "No shoes would fit her and she couldn't walk.

"She was on crutches for more than a year. Then we took her to Keeton and now she's getting better. She just has a slight limp."

Beautiful vet's patient is just wild about her

Treating sick bears is all in a day's work for lovely veterinarian Kathy Gentry.

The dedicated 27-year-old put the big animal under anesthesia so she could do some minor surgery on his paw.

Once the bear was back on his feet, Kathy gave him a quick check and was rewarded with a kiss — and later, a bear hug!

Kathy, of Las Vegas, Nev., keeps fit for her demanding job by lifting weights.

"It's a great way to let off steam and relieve the pressures of my job," the amazing young woman said. "Besides, I don't need any help lifting a large dog onto the examination table."

The pretty vet also works with exotic and dangerous animals like leopards and elephants!

Helpless kids cruelly treated in sadistic children's homes

Thousands of innocent children are being starved, beaten and tortured behind the locked doors of children's homes.

All over the country, children are being dressed in rags, deprived of food, forced to push peanuts across the floor with their noses, handcuffed to chairs and subjected to merciless beatings at the hands of sadistic tormentors.

These are the gut-wrenching findings of researchers who have gone behind the forbidding walls of government-financed private and state schools for dependent children. They found there conditions more inhumane than any that sprang from the imagination of Charles Dickens in his novels like "Oliver Twist."

By SUE IRVING

"We found children who were handcuffed to chairs for a week at a time, forced to stand there all day like that," said Jerry Miller, director of the National Center on Institutions and Alternatives in Washington, D.C. "We toured state schools all over Tennessee and the abuse was unbelievable, even sadistic in some cases.

"We were told the staff urinated in the food and we saw children in leg irons and others who had been handcuffed.

"Children who didn't obey orders fast enough were made to crawl across floors on their hands and feet. We found 18 children locked in isolation units and others forced to do pushups over open sewers.

"Some children even had to push peanuts across the floor with their noses.

"They used children to chase runaways and the youngsters were told, 'If you don't come back with blood on that runaway kid, you won't get out of here yourself.'

"These atrocities are not unique to just Tennessee. They are widespread throughout the country.

"There is no state that's immune to the kind of abuses we found."

In a separate investigation, Dr. Malcolm Bush interviewed more than 370 children in 138 institutions nationwide.

"I can tell you horror stories about these so-called homes," the assistant professor at the University of Chicago's School of Social Service Administration told The NEWS.

"In Texas we investigated institutions where children were locked up naked in concrete blockhouses for four or five days at a time.

"We saw homes where children did not attend school, and lived in plywood huts. They didn't have decent clothes and the food was lousy.

"There was a great deal of corporal punishment, constant beatings, and a certain amount of sadism. The tragedy is that these were not delinquent kids, just neglected and frightened children."

But in many institutions helpless, abused or orphaned children are thrown in with juvenile delinquents.

"Delinquents usually run the show, and that makes it very hard on the other kids," said Bush. "Drug use and sexual abuse go on everywhere.

"In the states where the licensing laws are lax — like Missouri, Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi — people are making small fortunes running these places and doing nothing for the children."

Because the "homes" receive a set amount of state or federal money per child per day, operators try to keep the children as long as possible. They also take in as many as possible, even when they don't have enough beds for them.

"The abuses continue because the children can't speak up for themselves," Bush said. "Unless you're a troublesome kid, you're just lost in the system."

The abused children can't turn to their families for help. Most states forbid contact for a certain period once a child has been taken from a home where he was abused or neglected.

"We have discovered a shocking situation in this country," Bush said. "Even if there's nothing wrong with a child when he's first sent to a home, chances are he will be damaged mentally and physically by the time he gets out."

Chewing gum helps keep drivers awake

Chewing gum can save your life — by keeping you more alert while driving long distances.

That's the astonishing conclusion of an amazing new study by the Traffic Medicine Research Foundation.

"The results were much as I had expected," said researcher Toshio Endo.

The study found that chewing gum improves drivers' scores in determining how rapidly lamps flickered and identifying shady figures.

'As a child, I was your basic klutz . . . awkward, plump and self-conscious'

Sexy Jane Fonda recalls life as a teenage tubby

Slim, trim Jane Fonda works out daily to keep her famous figure in shape — and herself in good health. But Jane says in her youth she fought fat the wrong way and hurt her health.

By DIANE JACOBS

Slim, glamorous Jane Fonda was once a little tubby who stuffed herself with brownies and peanut butter and bacon sandwiches.

She became so disgusted with her weight she went on crash diets for 20 years, forced herself to vomit and damaged her kidneys by taking diuretics.

"As a child, I was your basic klutz — awkward, plump, and self-conscious," she confesses in her book, "Jane Fonda's Workout Book" (Simon and Schuster, $15.95).

"I was convinced that when God passed out gracefulness, I had dropped my share."

She couldn't walk across a room without bumping into something, and she had far more interest in food than exercise. Jane liked being slightly sick — it was a good excuse to get out of gym class at school.

"When I was 14, I went to a girls' boarding school," she said. "It was there my friends and I developed a preoccupation with food. I suppose it was a way of relieving boredom and our budding sexual tensions."

Jane and her school friends binged on ice cream by the gallon and cake by the pound. They gobbled brownies and peanut butter and bacon sandwiches. All of them got so hefty, they sent away a coupon for chewing gum they thought would make them thin.

"My roommate believed the gum contained tapeworm eggs," she recalled.

"We presumed the food we ate would be devoured by the tapeworm before it was absorbed by us. Sharing life with a tapeworm seemed a small price to pay for thinness, so we dutifully sent in our coupons and chewed the gum, but it didn't work."

Relaxing after a workout, Jane Fonda says her new book points out the route to anyone who wants to trim their figure and improve their health.

The girls eased their disappointment the best way they knew how — by eating. Later Jane and her pals discovered a new way to indulge in food binges without getting fatter — they'd eat and vomit in regular cycles.

When she went to college Jane discovered amphetamines.

"We called them pep pills," she said. "Today they are called speed. We began taking the pills to lose weight.

"We never once had difficulty in finding a doctor to write a prescription . . . nor did any doctor ever warn us we could become addicted to them — as I did."

In boarding school Jane had discovered vomiting, in college Dexedrine and as a model, diuretics.

Both weight-losing methods wrecked her health.

"I worried constantly about losing weight," she said. "I lived on cigarettes, speed and strawberry yogurt."

Today, the stunning 43-year-old actress, twice winner of an Oscar, is an unabashed health nut.

"Working out has become part of my life," she said. "Almost anything else in my day can go by the board, but I must work out."

Jane's eating habits have also changed dramatically. She pushes herself to the limit during her daily exercise routine.

"Today," she says proudly, "my body is stronger and more limber, and I look and feel better than when I was 20."

Worried Walrus

This Atlantic walrus looks a bit worried — but he shouldn't be. He has a nice cage and pool at the Hamburg, Germany, zoo and the way best fish when mealtime rolls around.

I'm a happy newlywed — but the guy at the laundromat thrills me

Dear Babs...

Babs will be very pleased to help anyone who has a personal problem. Just write to: Babs, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462. Letters will be answered only in this column.

Dear Babs: I'm 20 years old and have been married for a year. Both my husband and I have full-time jobs and have no real problems nor any kids yet.

I do our laundry at a local laundromat and there is this guy who works there that I can't get off my mind. I think about him day and night.

Whenever I see him, I get butterflies in my stomach and get all nervous. He's always nice to me but only talks about the weather and asks how I am. He's not very good-looking, but there's something about him that I'm very attracted to.

For two months now, I've felt this and it tortures me. I have a good husband and I would never cheat on him but I do wish I were single again sometimes. Is this normal?

Tortured,
East Grand Forks, Minn.

Dear Tortured: Your attraction for this man, while unsettling, is perfectly normal for a healthy young newly married woman. The fact that you recognize the dilemma and have chosen not to act on the attraction shows the quality of your character. This does not mean that you're unfaithful or dishonest.

Enjoy the stimulation that you secretly hold for the other man but focus your sexual awareness and love on your husband alone. The fascination will soon pass.

My hubby treats me like a tramp

Dear Babs: I'm 20 and my husband is treating me like a tramp. Every day after work he comes home and makes love to me. If I tell him no, he does it anyway.

Afterwards, he goes out with the boys and stays until 2 or 3 a.m. Then he wants to make love again. It's the same every day. Should I divorce him? My friends say I should.

Overloved,
San Jose, Calif.

Dear Overloved: When any part of marriage gets out of balance someone suffers. Your husband's sexual drive is a good example.

It's certainly your right to refuse sexual activity when you want to and I suggest that you make this very clear to your husband.

I think only professional help will convince him of the need for balance in your sexual lives as well as other areas. If that doesn't work, you always have the option of divorce.

Messy kids are driving me crazy

Dear Babs: My husband and I have four children ages 2 through 7. The problem is the mess they make. My husband works away from the farm and I have the house as well as the farm to run all day.

The kids drag out all their toys and make a holy mess all over. My husband says I should clean up the mess and I say that if they're old enough to drag all the stuff out every day, they're old enough to put it away.

I'm so tired of yelling day and night for them to clean up. Don't get me wrong, I want the kids to be creative and play, but I also want them to take responsibility. If I leave the mess, my husband cleans it up after a hard day at work.

How do we work this out?

Tired Mom,
Haines City, Fla.

Dear Mom: I agree with you completely. If your kids are not taught responsibility now, the problem will only grow as they do.

Explain to the kids that from now on, they can play with their toys only if they put each one back when they are finished. Enforce this at first by putting the toys out of their reach and allowing them to have one thing at a time. When they return that one, give them another. Also, extend the play time outdoors to give you a break from the routine. Don't give in because if you do, they will know they've won and you'll have cleaner for another 20 years.

Married life is boring me to death

Dear Babs: I've been married two years and I'm not happy. I yearn for the single life again. I'm 28 and I feel 48. The only reason I stay married is that I have no friends anymore and my husband is my only friend and companion.

The single friends I used to have travel and party all the time. All I do is go to work, save money, and pay bills. Sometimes I even think of suicide. If I knew marriage would be so boring, I would never have said "I do."

Depressed,
Wilkes Barre, Pa.

Dear Depressed: Coming to grips with reality sometimes hurts. When you chose to be married, you were fulfilling a need. Remember back when you were single?

I'll bet all you and your girlfriends talked about was guys and getting married. Those travels and parties may seem like what you want but I'm betting that what you have is much better. To enrich your life, you need to broaden your interests.

It's time for you and your husband to seek out challenging new areas of interest. Being married does not mean you have to change your needs and desires.

You can now enjoy them by sharing them with the man who is your friend and companion. Stop feeling sorry for yourself and take a look at the positive side.

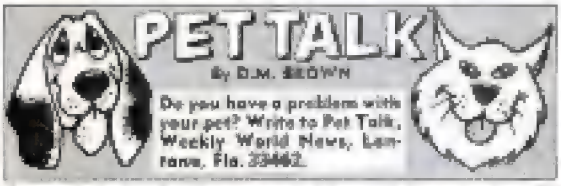
Our goat sneezes and sounds like she is choking to death



Dear Pet Talk: Our goat always sneezes, but it sounds as if she's choking. Her bag looks weird because one side's bigger than the other, too.

Sneezy,
Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

Dear Sneezy: Goats hold their cud in their throats, and then cough (and it can sound like sneeze) it up into their mouths to chew it. That's what the goat is doing.

It's not unusual for a goat's udder to be a bit lopsided-looking. If she's got a kid, it may be favoring one teat when it nurses.

You should milk her twice a day, stripping both sides completely if she's not nursing.

I can't spank my cute little kitty

Dear Pet Talk: Suzy kitten gets in my curtains all the time. I don't want to hit her because she's so cute, but what should I do?

Shredded Drapes,
Fenoria, Ohio

Dear Shredded Drapes: Hitting a cat will never get anyone anywhere — fast.

Cats, especially kittens, can be trained, and here's how you train Suzy not to claw your curtains.

When you see her going at them, say "No," firmly, and slap your hand hard on a magazine. Cats hate loud and sudden noises. Then pick her up by the nape of the neck, hold her with her back feet supported, and shake her head (but not too hard), just as the momma cat chastises her little ones.

Again, say "No!" Carry her to her scratching post, which has a nice little bit of catnip on it, and squeeze her paws so the claws show, rubbing them down the post at the same time. Praise her. Keep playful Suzy out of rooms with curtains when you're not there to watch her until she's trained. Now is the time, too, to begin regular trimming of her nails with a clipper, gently and carefully, just as you do your own nails.

My pup just won't go on the paper

Dear Pet Talk: I've had my six-month-old Yorkshire terrier for four months. I have tried desperately to paper train her. There have been high praises, spankings, and short periods of solitude.

She will go as long as three days using the paper, and then seems to forget all the training for a week or more.

She is very lovable, and I know I would enjoy her even more if I could control her potty habits or the lack of them.

Leaky Yorky,
Monahans, Tex.

Dear Leaky Yorky: Spankings and solitude aren't going to work with your leaky puppy, but confinement to her potty paper area will. Keep her leashed to her spot, leaving only enough room for potty purposes and her bedding wherever you are not with her.

Watch her like a hawk when you are with her, because she'll look whenever you're distracted by something like the phone.

If she does, wash it, and then spray it with "wonder" white vinegar which will change the scent of her urine so she won't be tempted to go there again. Gradually, you can allow her more house freedom, but when she makes a mistake — and she will — it's back to confinement in the original paper area until she's proved herself tidy again.

Old kitty needs his teeth cleaned

Dear Pet Talk: Percy, my wonderful 12-year-old cat, is very healthy. Contributing to his health is his diet of boiled whiting or catfish, mixed with his favorite brand of cat food.

This diet of soft food does not keep the tartar off his choppers, however. The dry food seems to contain more than the 3 percent ash vets allow a neutered cat. I remove as much of the tartar from his teeth as he will allow, but I'm not sure if I might be doing some harm.

If the vet removes the tartar, he'll have to anesthetize Percy, and that won't be good for his health.

Ex-hygienist,
Boynton Beach, Fla.

Dear Ex-hygienist: Since Percy's doing so well on his fish and cat food, don't attempt to change his diet at this point in his life. Actually, dry cat food also contributes heavily to tartar build-up since it tends to compact around the animal's gums.

Your kitty is lucky to have you do his dentistry. Keep up your good work, since you obviously know what you're doing.

FAT SO!

Are you smart enough to try my miracle method of weight loss without frustration... guaranteed weight loss—permanently?

Now a new study shows how you can lose all the weight you want without hunger, drugs, frustrations, and the "bounce back" that makes diet programs hard to follow and at best temporarily effective!

by Stephen Rolles, M.D.

I said something that may have insulted you. But it won't insult your intelligence.

You see fat.

I don't care if you gloss that unlovable fact over by such phrases as being overweight, roly-poly, plump, large or any other catchword.

You are obese. It is bad for your appearance, your self-esteem, your love life, your professional career, and your health. And you know it.

Yes, I know you have tried to lose weight. Most people have. They lose pounds and inches, feel good for a while, then gain all that ugly fat back—usually, with a bit added on for good measure.

I would not dare GUARANTEE that my Miracle Reducing Method will work for you—permanently or your money back—unless I had conclusive proof of its amazing effectiveness.

I have such evidence. It is in the files of my private clinic in Kent, England, where thousands of men and women have come to solve their weight problems from all over the world. And now I offer it to you!

Scientific Proof!

I took a sample group of male and female patients and asked them to follow my method, which consists of pleasant psychological conditioning, without asking them to stick to a low calorie diet.

The patients were divided into two groups. Both groups were allowed to eat as much as they wanted from a specific list of nutritious foods. They learned my method and put it to work for them by listening to a record or a tape cassette. In addition to the pleasant psychological conditioning used by both groups, the second group was exposed to more intense willpower therapy using a combination of pleasant music and whispered messages which resulted in effortless weight loss. Here are the results:

- The patients lost a total of 1,210 pounds during the course of the experiment.
- Each group reported that my method let hungers and frustrations that destroy most diet programs.
- The group with the most intense willpower lost even more weight than the first group—28.4% more weight lost!

ALL THIS WITHOUT A LOW CALORIE DIET!!

The secret behind the success of my slimming system is very simple. I put the power of your mind behind it.

Take off up to 50 lbs.—or more—effortlessly! And keep them off!

To lose weight fast, my patients follow the same kind of fast eating slimming program includes: basically, they eat at least in total food intake than in total physical output, which results in weight loss. The lower the intake and the higher the output, the faster the weight loss.

However, my patients are also exposed to sessions of deep mind conditioning and relaxing music with whispered messages that actually give them willpower without work. This makes it even easier than they ever believed to follow a diet and be happy with it!

Here are a few comments my patients have made to me:

- "Fabulous! I lost 18 pounds and didn't even realize I was dieting!"
- "I lost 30 pounds and have kept them off for more than three years now!"
- "Diets make me hungry. Exercise bores me. It is scary me. But you let me lose 35 pounds without even trying!"
- "I couldn't believe how easy you made it for me to shed 50 pounds and reduce my waist line by 13 inches!"
- "I shed 82 pounds without pain and strain and kept them off using your method!"

What was the big difference between my program and every other weight-loss system these patients had ever followed, and to last with? Not the diet itself—but the simple fact that I taught my weight-losers how to actually take away their hungers and frustrations that destroy most diet programs.

Now I can take your hunger away, too, if you'll let me. You will not eat too much—or even want to! I will tell you what to eat—and you will be surprised at how it satisfies your hunger and gives you eating pleasure that no deprivation diet ever gave you.

More important—MUCH more important—I will talk to you as I talk to my private patients who spend the thousand pounds it costs to see me in England. I will speak to you in your home or office over your tape or record player.

Guaranteed Weight Loss!

Yes, you can take off the weight you want to lose without suffering—and keep as slim as you want, forever.

And you will lose weight. I GUARANTEE IT. My method will work for you if you follow it or I promise to refund your money in full!

Send the coupon below with your check now—unless you really like being fat! But if you want to be slim and stay that way order my Miracle Reducing Method, NOW!

Blind coed dives, skis and serves Big Macs

By JOE BERGER

Amazing Diane Jones rides a feisty quarter horse, acts and sings in college plays, water skis, scuba dives and fills orders at a busy McDonald's restaurant — despite being totally blind.

"There's almost nothing I can't do," Diane, 22, told The NEWS.

"My biggest problem in life is making other people understand that I'm not helpless — that being blind can't stop you unless you let it."

The gutsy young woman, blind since birth, decided early that she wasn't going to let her handicap make her life a dark, lonely hell.

"I've always worked hard to be independent and sometimes it's not easy," she said. "Sometimes I get scared when I'm trying something new — but I just grit my teeth and go right on."

Diane will graduate from Friends University in Wichita, Kans., next year with a degree in voice and church music. She plans to become a voice teacher when school's out.

Until then, she'll support herself by hustling Big Macs and Egg McMuffins to customers at McDonald's.

"It's incredible to watch her go at it," said a co-worker. "She'll chase back, snatch the right sandwich out of the bin, fill a couple of sacks with fries, draw a Coke and be back with the customer in a flash.

"Then she rings it up, takes the money, makes change and the guy is out the door and on his way. You might not even notice she's blind if you weren't paying attention."

She long ago memorized all the keys on the computerized cash register and put tape on the nearby dispenser that holds medium-size cups so she can grab the one she wants in a hurry.

It wasn't the first time the courageous young woman has surprised those around her with her uncanny ability to cope with a world she can't see — and she gives her parents most of the credit for her startling accomplishments.

"They weren't going to let me sit around and feel sorry for myself," Diane said. "They treated me just like my two brothers and my sister."

That included putting the tough little girl on the back of a horse when she was 5.

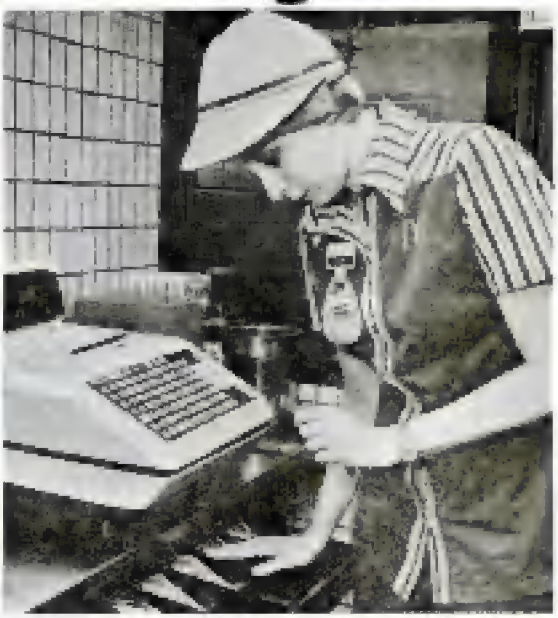
Diane put the same fierce determination to work when she learned to dive, water ski, play the piano and even to act on the stage.

She's even driven a car on country roads — with a bit of help from friends.

But her toughest test came five years ago when she left her parents' home to attend college miles away in Wichita.

"I'm not going to lean on other people forever and I'm not going to sit around and let life pass me by.

"I'm just not that kind of person, I guess."



Gutsy Diane Jones finds correct change by touch on her job at a busy McDonald's restaurant in Wichita, Kans.

The smart shopper saves labels — and big bucks

Smart shoppers save what other people throw away — every food label, tear strip and inside pouch they can get their hands on.

They know that these little bits and pieces of product packaging can be turned into cold cash.

Food and house product manufacturers frequently offer you something in return for using their items.

And if you have the proof of purchase in a label or seal on the product, it could mean a dollar, a free item or a gift.

Before throwing any package away, check coupon or refund offers.

Visiting the cluttered office of dentist Rodney Crow in Fort Worth, Tex., is like stepping back in time. At left, Rodney works on patient JoEllen Bourg in his refurbished 1930s-style chair. Above, Joan Perry schedules a patient's visit in the business office. Rodney says the wacky decor has a soothing effect on his patients, many of whom bring antiques and mementos of the past to contribute to the decorations in the unusual dental office.

Monthly madness of the berserk barmaid

By DICK DONOVAN

Mild-mannered barmaid Sandie Smith becomes a murderous animal every 28 days — unless she gets daily injections of a drug that calms her dangerous bits of pre-menstrual stress.

Over the past 10 years the soft-spoken, blue-eyed 28-year-old has exploded into killing rages, murdering a teenage girl and committing 32 acts of arson, assault and burglary.

When Smith isn't able to vent her uncontrollable rage on others, she turns on herself. She has attempted suicide 23 times since she was 18.

Although she has been convicted of murder and a recent knife-attack on a policeman, an understanding judge has refused to send Smith to prison.

The judge said she wasn't responsible for her acts because of her acute bits of pre-menstrual stress — a condition that affects 40 percent of all women between the ages of 24 and 50.

"My life was a living hell," Smith told The NEWS from her home in London, England. "For weeks on end I'd be a happy, normal person who wouldn't hurt a fly. Then, every 28 days, I'd become deeply depressed and dangerously aggressive.

"I would fly into terrible, uncontrollable rages, smashing things and lashing out at anyone and anything I came in contact with.

"The doctors said I'd gone mad. But I know they were wrong. I didn't know what was wrong with me, but I knew I wasn't mad. There was something inside me pushing me, forcing me to do those awful things.

"I've tried to kill myself 23 times. I've taken drug overdoses, slashed and gashed myself with knives, razors or jagged chunks of glass. I once even tried to set myself on fire.

"Sometimes I would just run away. Once I was missing for 36 hours and when they found me, it took 10 men to hold me down. The awful thing is I often couldn't remember what I'd done or where I'd been."

Smith's condition flared into violence last year when she attacked and killed a 19-year-old barmaid in the pub where they both worked.

The tormented woman was convicted and held in a London jail to await sentencing. It was then that her incredible affliction came to light.

"Until then, no one knew what was wrong with me," Smith said. "But my father hit on the answer after reading my diaries. He put the pieces together.

"He noticed that all my wild behavior and suicide attempts followed a 28-day cycle that matched my menstrual period.

"He told a prison doctor about it, and she ran some tests. The doctor discovered I had a massive hormone deficiency and she started me on daily injections of progesterone. It proved to be a lifesaving cure."

When the judge learned that Smith's behavior was caused by medical problems and that the drug would prevent further attacks, he sentenced her to a probation term.

During the months that followed the woman lived a normal, trouble-free life.

Then a few months ago, for some as yet unknown reason, her progesterone dosage was cut in half. Several weeks later, she attacked a policeman with a knife.

Smith was tried and convicted of assault. But when the drug underdosage was reported to Judge James Miskin — the same judge who had sentenced her in the teenager's death — he again gave her a probation term.

"He said I was a woman who wanted to be good, but couldn't because of my illness," Smith said.

"My life has been one long nightmare, but someday, I'll be a happy person. I know I will."

The NATURAL WAY

The Secret That May Actually

Make You Young Again!

Announced by Health Researcher

Dear Friend:

Now RE-DISCOVERED after nearly a century— The NATURAL WAY, the secret that may MAKE YOU YOUNG AGAIN, the natural rejuvenation secret that shows you how men and women in their 50s, 60s, 70s and even 80s were able to look and feel HALF THEIR AGE, how a man in his seventh decade claimed—

It restored his sight, his hair—erased his wrinkles and gave his skin the smooth appearance of youth—made his rheumatism vanish, restored his liver, healed his stomach ulcers and varicose veins, renewed the hardening of the arteries without surgery!

He called it YOUTH RESTORATIVE X, and claimed that anyone could use it, quickly and easily, to flush age-causing poisons out of the body. He cited many cases to prove that Youth Restorative X may actually make you young again!

A PROVEN CASE OF ACTUAL REJUVENATION!

"At age 65, I was physically an old man," said Anton L.. "I was then balding, my hair was streaked with gray, with down-hanging pouch and puffy bags under my eyes. I was nearly blind, my pulse was irregular. I had liver problems, ulcers, weak lungs, varicose veins and hardening of the arteries, with acid rheumatism adding to agonies." WITH YOUTH RESTORATIVE X, IN A MATTER OF WEEKS HE STARTED GROWING YOUNGER! So remarkable was his recovery that at 65 he looked 35 or 40 and felt it!

CLAIMS EYESIGHT RESTORED!

For many years, Anton was plagued with poor vision. Long hours of work, as a bookkeeper, had ruined his eyes, until finally he was nearly blind. He was unable to read, strong light hurt his eyes, and he stumbled about pathetically . . .

Yet with this secret, at 65, his sight improved so much he was able to see without glasses, do extensive reading and research, and his eyes were no longer painful. "This great improvement in my sight," he wrote, "is certainly directly due to this secret."

He claimed this method has a wonderfully invigorating effect upon the eyes and will surely improve the sight. The reason for this is that it draws the blood to the eyes, and increases their vitality by enabling them to receive more and better nourishment! It also stimulates the nerve structures of the eyes.

DARKENS AND RESTORES HAIR!

At 60, Anton was quite bald, and what little hair he had was thin and streaked with gray. At 65, his doctor noted: "The hair has become luxuriant. No indication of baldness." With this method, Anton claimed:

New healthy hairs will spring up in place of dead ones, often down the same root! Wherever hit remains in the follicles, new hairs will sprout, he said! Anton found it possible to stimulate the gland that produces hair color by certain simple hand movements. As a result, his hair became much darker!

You'll find full details in a startling book by Ben Davis, that shows how YOU can win the secret of YOUTH RESTORATIVE X. I'll tell you how to get it and try it at our risk for 30 full days —in just a moment. But first let me tell you more about it!

EVEN IN ADVANCED AGE, YOU CAN FOOL THE CALENDAR—CHEAT TIME OF 20-30 YEARS!

You can restore the skin to the smoothness of youth, said Anton. With this secret, wrinkles are erased, youthful shape restored. And this much-to-be desired condition can be accomplished without cost, he said. You will actually look younger under the clearest inspection, he emphasized, and your new look will "stay put" and not "rub off"!

Anton claimed it is possible to erase sharp lines even in advanced age. At 60, his face was covered with wrinkles, and was drawn and haggard. At 65, his face was smooth and young!

According to all reports, at 65, Anton's face was that of a well-preserved man of 40 or less. His neck was smooth, the result of a new young look. His throat was no longer loose or hanging, but firm. His chin and cheeks were round and full. In his upper 60's, Anton's face was still remarkably smooth and free of wrinkles!

SMOOTH SKIN RESTORED!

Anton carefully studied the secrets of Ninon de L'Enclos, the great French beauty who, at 90, was still as physically alluring that young men fell hopelessly in love with her! Her face was as smooth and free of wrinkles as it had been at twenty! (This is a well documented fact.) Her form was as symmetrical, elegant and pleasing as a young girl's. Louis XIV declared that she was the marvel of his years. Nurses declared that anyone could get the same results with the secret!

It is the only successful method for removing wrinkles, said Anton. Without surgery, you can give yourself a permanent natural face-lift. It involves no expense, a pastime, and very pleasant. Specifically, Anton claimed—

• EYE LINES DISAPPEAR!—Lines around the eyes can be erased! This method will strengthen the large circular muscle which surrounds the eye, and when developed will prevent sagging there. It will also make any hollows in the cheeks fill up and disappear!

Ninon de L'Enclos at 70.

Authentic glimpse of Ninon de L'Enclos at ages ranging from 50 to 65 show a clear, smooth face, with youthful rounded contours, a smooth throat and symmetrical bust that are convincing proof of this method.

• CHIN FIRM AND ROUND!—If your chin was once full and round in youth, this condition will be regained, in Anton's before-and-after pictures, his chin was square and haggard at age 60. At 65, his chin was smooth and youthful. This improvement takes place rapidly he said!

• A YOUTHFUL JAW LINE! – If the jaw muscles have shrunken, as they usually do in advanced years, the skin will hang loose now days. This method, said Anton, will speedily tone-up and increase the size of these muscles—thus giving a rounded, youthful appearance to the jaw!

• FLABBY JOWLS VANISH!—With age, full cheeks get sunken and hollow, due to shrinking of supporting muscles. This causes hanging or loose jowls. With this method, the cheeks fill in, become full and firm, lines disappear, face becomes smooth. Improvement is rapid, he said!

• MOUTH LINES DISAPPEAR!—The mouth is encircled by a wide muscular band, which grows weak as we advance in years, causing the mouth to sag and droop at the corners, with deep lines developing. Anton's mouth did not droop at all, but was as firm as it was when he was 30. This method will speedily firm up the mouth, he said. Any droop or sagginess will disappear!

• CROW'S FEET DISAPPEAR!—As we advance in years certain lines appear, line from the nostrils to the corner of the mouth, curving downward. Lines on the forehead appear, "crow's feet" spread fanwise from the corners of the eyes. Fine lines start criss-crossing all over the face in a tangled web. Here is the only sure method of erasing these lines, said Anton.

• SAGGING THROAT FIRMS UP!—In youth, the throat is graceful and smooth because of a large muscle extending from the voice box to the chin. As this muscle shrinks, the skin be-

"HOW RAPID HEALING FOODS MAY CURE SPECIFIC AILMENTS!"

"You can be brief, active and youthful at an age when others are gray and herbert! You can have abounding vitality, and the abundant vigor and energy that go with it, say leading experts. You can steal time of 20 or 30 years! Nature will restore you to the vigorous youth body in a duration of the time it took to age. You will feel decades younger, and this can happen almost overnight, say experts! You can undergo complete and actual self-time rejuvenation, with rapid healing foods. You will not only look younger, you will actually be younger" says Ben Davis.

"AMAZING QUICK RECOVERIES!"

"Amazing cases are reported with rapid healing foods proving that many violent ailments can be cured quickly, when what to eat and what not to eat are known. Here are the shocking facts," says Davis.

• "When victims of stroke and brain clot were given a certain food, a common vegetable juice—that clears out veins and arteries—said, hearing and paralyzed arms and legs were restored to normal!

• "When a dying lung victim started using a rapid healing food (a common sweet fruit) his lungs became so healthy that doctors refused to believe it was true!

• "A common food juice can stimulate, purge and empty the gall bladder and has been used to dissolve gall stones! That's not all! Large kidney stones can be dissolved with it, and the formation of all small stones cease immediately say doctors!

• "At least a half-dozen foods have been found to cleanse the blood of excess sugar. One of these—a common vegetable —has permanently cured diabetes!

• "Rapid healing foods have made cancers melt away! A 60-year old woman, going blind from cataracts, used two of these foods for seven meal and vegetable juices). At 66, her cataracts are gone!

• "Two common seed oils may relieve MS, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy, and polyneuritis (paralysis)! Sciatica (leg pain) has been relieved with a common fruit juice, in as little as one day!

• "A common vegetable juice has relieved prostate enlargements, even in a case of complete stoppage of urine! The relief could urinate freely, avoiding surgery!

• "You'll find out exactly what these foods are . . . foods available in every supermarket that can bring spectacular relief from burns, gangrene, leg ulcers, arthritis" and much more!

"KIDNEY STONES DISSOLVE RAPIDLY"

"I have found that in every case, the kidney stone will be dissolved sufficiently so that the stones will pass down the ureter . . . and finally out," said one doctor. "I find it frequently the case that the kidney stone will be dissolved into such minute particles that there will not be any pain as these particles pass through the body."

EYES STRENGTHENED!

The eyes invariably become stronger with this method, in some cases glasses may be discarded entirely, and specialist is frequently removed to surgical says one doctor. He says that in one case, an entire family was able to stop wearing glasses!

HEARING IMPROVED!

"Hearing is definitely improved (with the method)," says Ben Davis. "Noises and other queer sludge that accumulates in the ear bones—making them rigid, and sometimes fused together—is dissolved . . . It is this excess that is the acknowledged cause of over 90 percent of hearing problems." Hearing grows clear and sharp, he says!

A CURE FOR ARTHRITIS!

"Practically all forms of arthritis can be speedily corrected, with rapid healing foods," says Ben Davis. "For many years it was thought that bone joints and deformities could not be corrected, but there is now startling evidence that even these can be restored, without surgery, in many cases!"

SKIN PROBLEMS RELIEVED!

One doctor claimed that no matter what the particular skin disease, it will disappear with a stunning din. Davis says eczema, psoriasis, wrinkles, lines, blotches, pimples, flu-lines, dandruff, hardened sacrocostosis, harmless tumors, cysts, acne are all relieved!

CURING HAY FEVER!

With this method, said one doctor, "The sufferer from hay fever can so change his body chemistry that he can bury his face in his former territory, no matter what this happens to be, without a single sneeze."

HEADACHES VANISHED!

Headache is one of the first symptoms to disappear quickly and permanently with this method, says Davis. "Long-standing (20-year) sufferers of migraine and other headaches have found complete and permanent relief, practically overnight, with this simple method."

NERVE AILMENTS CURED!

"Seemingly hopeless nerve ailments have been cured with a rapid cleansing diet," says Davis. "Many nerve ailments were completely curable in the early stages. . . . And results are amazing cure have been obtained even in advanced cases. These include shaking palsy . . . multiple sclerosis (one physician doctor claimed this is a possibility of recovery in thousands of cases now reported in hopeless) . . . epilepsy . . . and more, says Davis.

FEMALE PROBLEMS RELIEVED!

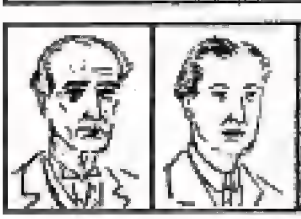
This method, says Davis, can relieve symptoms that range from headache, constipation and fatigue, to nervous distress, aching, discharge, painful breasts, overabundant periods, hemorrhoids, menstrual and menopausal problems, and much more.

MALE PROBLEMS RELIEVED!

In almost every case, as 1 or 2 days a free flow of urine is restored, says Davis. "I have seen prostate glands as large as baseballs, cases in which a catheter had to be used close to complete stoppage of urine! relieved to nearly normal in a week," said one doctor. All discomforts were relieved!"

"WHAT I ACCOMPLISHED IS POSSIBLE TO ALMOST ANYONE!"

With Youth Restorative X, Anson changed. When he was 45, his doctor reported: "At this time I find a great change in Anson's appearance. He really seems rejuvenated. The hair has become luxurious. No indication of baldness. The skin is smooth, no longer loose and hanging . . . less wrinkle. He has the appearance of a very young man of 35 or 40 . . . Heart sound, no palpitation or irregularity at pulse; digestion good, tone sound, skin healed, lungs healthy, no indication of varicose vein or hardening of the arteries, eyes normal, joints limber, he seems very alert, no trace of senility. He used it sharp and clean." Many others quickly got the same results!



CROW'S FEET DISAPPEAR!

Here is the only sure method of erasing these lines, said Anson.

corners watered and wrinkled, and skin soon began losing folds. This method removes the sweetness of youth to the throat, said Anson!

CLAIMS RHEUMATISM DISAPPEARED!

At 49, Anson complained of cracking, painful bones and joints. He tried one to pain, and resolved to find a way to make them flexible once again. With Youth Restorative X, in a short time all signs of rheumatism disappeared!

At 53, Anson claimed, "I feel as free and flexible as I did at 25. There is no longer any trace of pain, and the rheumatism I suffered for so long is gone. There is now bounce in my legs, new spring in my step. All this happened in a matter of weeks, and I have been pain-free for five years!"

This method, he claimed, may even effect a cure not possible with drugs. If there is any tendency to rheumatic pains in the limbs—where deposits of uric acid frequently occur—the method will relieve it by dissolving such deposits. he said. Uric acid is literally dissolved and "pumped" or flushed out, he said!

SLUGGISH LIVER RELIEVED!

For 30 years, Anson complained of chronic indigestion, a belching bitter taste, pains on the right side, gas, headache, dizziness, nausea, foul breath, constipation, chills, perspiration, drowsiness after meals and heavy palpitations, all common symptoms of liver and gall bladder problems. With this secret, he said, all symptoms of a sluggish liver disappeared. Youth Restorative X will do wonders in relieving liver complaints, and stimulating a sluggish liver, he claimed. "It really works. I never take any pills or potions any more," he said!

STOMACH ULCERS, CONSTIPATION AND OTHER INDIGESTIVE DISORDERS RELIEVED!—Anson suffered from digestive upset for years. Thanks to this method, all these symptoms disappeared. "I can wherever I like and lots of it," he said. Youth Restorative X greatly assists the stomach, intestines, liver, kidneys and all organs of elimination in expelling noxious waste and clogging matter. It is nature's greatest remedy for stomach upset, and can help you avoid heartburn, gas, cramps and other upset, he said. Nearing 100, he still boasted a ravenous appetite, never needed any medicine!

HOW TO CLEAR THE LUNGS! — Anson wrote: "My mother died of consumption at 38. I inherited her weak lungs, and throughout my dizzy, frantic childhood, I suffered from asthma and bronchitis. Everyone said I would surely go as my mother did. Yet today at 67, I am hale and hearty. I have come back from a gasping, wheezing invalid, plagued with respiratory afflictions to one who is absolutely free from coughs, colds or any lung weakness. I strongly urge that you use this method for lung health. With Youth Restorative X, you need not fear pulmonary diseases . . . only good will result." He claimed he had a sure cure for colds that relieved them quickly—almost overnight—cured pneumonia in the early stages, and cleared up sinus troubles quickly!

VARICOSE VEINS HEALED — Anson claimed this method is a sure cure in any ordinary case. At 40, he developed a painful, bulging varicose vein which annoyed him for the next 20 years. It was always annoying, and threatened to ulcerate or form a clot. For years he wore an elastic stocking. "Relief is obtained by this method," he said. "It will relieve the congestion and restore the distorted venous valves to their proper position, when the trouble will disappear." At 60, his legs were so healthy he put a rope in 7:10 to prove it, without any distress he could not do at age 40!

HOW TO LOSE WEIGHT RAPIDLY BY EATING MORE WITH YOUTH RESTORATIVE X!—Ordinary diets often produce a weakened condition which affects the lungs, said Anson. They do not remove fat where you want it, and involve a good deal of self-denial. Anson averred, as he remained slender "I eat wherever I like, and lots of it," he said. And so he claimed the method will melt off pounds faster than anything else in the world. No calorie counting or will power is needed. "This method is the surest, easiest, and safest method of losing fat," he said. His cure "spare rib" disappeared, and so will yours, he emphasized!

HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES REVERSED! — Anson claimed his secret was a major breakthrough in reversing hardening of the arteries, which he said is the principal cause of "old age." At 60, Anson was feeble with age, and a general hardening of the arteries. In a matter of weeks, this condition was reversed, and he was young again at 45, with no trace of senility. Youth Restorative X opens clogged arteries—whether the largest tube in the system or the smallest, said Anson. With free circulation restored, the body again becomes youthful!

One medical doctor, who treated hundreds of gall stone without surgery, said: ". . . stones within: cholangram, and pass out with but slight discomfort. . . . It was said that all pain ceases, and it removed inflammation solvation, tissues are healed, and recovery is complete and permanent!

KIDNEYS RELIEVED!

Speaking of kidney inflammation (nephritis or Bright's disease), one doctor said: "There is no disease which yields so readily to treatment (by a cleansing diet) as this one, and even the most serious looking cases will often be cured in a remarkably short time. . . . Irreversible cases are very rare . . . a complete cure can usually be effected."

"HEALTH AND LONG LIFE ARE VIRTUALLY GUARANTEED!"

"A famous doctor once stated that disease of the body is a result always of the body's inability to keep itself clear of its own accumulated debris. Drain the body of its poisons, feed it properly, and miracles of healing happen!

"Walk this secret," says David, "diseases of all kinds actually disappear, and we are rewarded with the highest degree of natural immunity, and the doctor, health and long life are virtually guaranteed!

"We have then safeguarded all functions: we have relieved the burden of infection to practically zero: we have prevented the annoying daily fatigue from which so many suffer; we have guaranteed ourselves against disease; we have postponed old age to senseless to the indefinite future, he claimed . . . bowel-ache results were reported by this doctor!

• "Pneumonia, erysipelas, influenza, acute arthritis, colitis, hay fever, all subside when the body is flushed or cleansed of poisons with rapid healing foods, he said!

• "Many cases of sciatica, unable to walk due to weakness, unable to lie down because of shortness of breath, after 3 days of cleansing, can lie down flat to sleep and even take walks with enjoyment, said this doctor!

• "True angina (heart pain), whether from degenerative changes in the heart muscle or from embolism of the coronary artery, will generally lose all pain or pressure after 3 days of cleansing, and go on to complete relief, even returning to active exercise, golf, even tennis, with no trace of heart weakness, he said!

• "Almost every case of arthritis will respond to treatment, said his doctor. Complete recovery is the rule.

• "Many a case of gastric or duodenal ulcer responds at once, the very first day. . . . Complete and permanent cures are possible, in nearly all cases. . . . Every case of colitis no cancer . . . he said!

• "Seemingly hopeless cases of sadness recover quickly with this method, he said—especially the chronic, pessimistic type who has been everywhere, tried everything . . . in a little as 3 days there is . . . often permanent relief . . . he said!"

DIABETES CURED

A doctor wrote: "A patient came to us in the Spring of 1939 . . . suffering primarily from diabetes but her case was complicated by high blood pressure and gall stones. . . . Mrs. S. had many symptoms weak, dazed the brain. . . . By 4 o'clock that afternoon . . . she had collapsed and was in a semi-coma. She was put on a (cleansing diet). Then she was given our so-called LC diet. . . . By Christmas, she was absolutely cured.

KIDNEY, WATER, GALL BLADDER RELIEF!

One man said: "You may be interested in . . . a very wonderful cure for a very infected kidney . . . the urine was almost white with pus. I am 65. At a local V.A. hospital, a Chinese doctor told me (to use a certain Rapid Healing Food) every day. I have done it for over 3 years . . . perfect and clear urine where my kidneys are in excellent shape."

A girl, 20, was doomed with kidney trouble (nephritis). Doctors said she had only a month to live. She was bloated from head to foot, which water (dropsy). Another doctor was called in. He said to use small amounts of one particular food, mixed overnight in cooking. Disappointed operators of water drained away. Her swollen wrists and ankles became normal. After a while, she was declared normal, and cured!

A woman, 71, with liver and gall bladder trouble, was told to use Rapid Healing Foods. She went to the bathroom and eliminated a large stone about ¾", painlessly. She recovered well, and said she would even eat forbidden foods!

CANCER

June 21-July 22

You may be feeling sentimental and nostalgic. Conver, so pack yourself up, dust yourself off and, as the song says, start all over again. This is a year of new starts for you and you can't let the holidays find you longing for the past.

Concentrate on friendships and the social side of life now. You can pick up where you left off on a project at a later time.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 23

Get organized or you'll feel more like a whipped kitty than a lion, Leo. The last thing you want now is frazzled nerves so get an early start on the days and stay on schedule until you get everything done.

Then you'll have lots of time for the activities you love, sharing moments with close friends and loved ones and feeling the warmth of the holiday festivities.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Relax, Virgo, you'll probably be the best organized celebrant of the entire zodiac. Your shopping will be finished, presents wrapped, and baked goods set out for the neighbors before anybody else has finished sending Christmas cards.

Enjoy the season and resolve to put your worries aside. You've worked hard and you deserve the pleasures that come your way.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Keep your sense of humor about you now, Libra, or you're liable to lose your cool when you try to put up the Christmas tree and it falls over, or the chocolate you bought for someone special melts. People know your heart is sincere even if your actions are bumbling.

Try to control your tendency to overspend or your extravagant ways will land you in the red.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Your emotions are apt to get away from you now, so hold yourself in check or you'll feel like a seesaw and a worn out one at that. It's steady as she goes, Scorpio, and you'll steer an even course through the holiday season.

Plan a special get-together with people you especially like. Look your sharpest this week as eyes are on you and you can sparkle now.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Your career and work life have probably shown great progress this year, Sagittarius, but this is one week when you can let your hair down and think of pleasures outside the office or job.

Give yourself the break you've earned. Toss a pillow in the air, throw your cares to the wind and be the charming person you can be. The holidays are for living it up with those you hold dearest.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Holiday cheer is in the air and here you are, Capricorn, caught with more responsibilities than ever it seems. Try to delegate jobs that others can handle, both around the office and at home. It will make them feel needed and important.

Then you can give in to those feelings of warmth and affection you so often hide for fear of letting others see what a soft heart you really have.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

With your evasive genius, you can come up with all sorts of interesting gift ideas, some you can make yourself, Aquarius, and you'll throw your energies into celebrating with carefree abandon.

Get work done early, don't start any major projects that can be put off until after the holiday season is over and strive to include those close to you in your plans. Show affection you feel.

PISCES

Feb. 19-March 20

There's little time for daydreaming now so knuckle down and get those greeting cards sent, the Christmas tree decorated and your shopping done. This is the time of year that always catches you with your head in the clouds while everyone else is grabbing the gifts from the shelves.

Pay attention to appearances, Pisces, and make the house bright and cheery.

This week's birthday

STEVE ALLEN
DEC. 26, 1921
CAPRICORN

Brilliant Steve Allen, the comedian with the cutting wit, will be 69 years old this week. He was born Stephen Valentine Allen in New York City under the sun sign of Capricorn the day after Christmas.

His chart shows he has a head for business and a heart for comedy. His bookish leanings and love of history come from his sun and Mercury in Capricorn, the same influence that gives him a deep respect for the wisdom passed down through the ages.

He's also a mastermind of business. No flaw escapes him. He has incredible energy and the vigor of youth that belies his age, making him seem young forever.

With both his moon and Venus in Sagittarius, it took a lot to tie this man down to a home life. He can still be quite a flirt without even realizing it.

But the Sagittarian influence has sharpened his wit and made him the comedian he is. He loves to laugh, but his deeper, darker side often sees the world as a melancholy place. Humor is his therapy.

He loves to view the world in an absurd way for it helps him forget the dismal side of life. With Jupiter and Saturn in Libra his love for books and learning is strong. The Capricorn influence gives him a love of knowledge and the power it brings, but the Libra influence makes him a real collector of books. This influence is very strong in his life now as seen by his show "The Meaning of The Minds" and his endorsements for classic literature.

Astro Match Ups

By Skip Frahling

Libra male — Taurus female

This is a Match Up to behold, even if they are the Laurel and Hardy of the zodiac — a comedy of errors that just won't quit.

He's the sweetest, nicest, most easygoing person around. It's just that he forgets to replace the floor covering he tried to fix and people fall on their faces. He shows the neighborhood kids how to throw a curve ball and it goes through the library window. He kisses you affectionately and dislocates your back.

Fortunately, she's the tomboy and athlete of the zodiac — she may just be there to catch his toss right before it plows through the window. Even when she has to finish the job he started and made such a mess of, she'll love him dearly and it's no wonder — he's the kind of guy about whom people say, "I could kill him if I didn't love him so much."

When it comes to matters of the senses, she's the one who's fully alive. Sniffing lovely flowers, tasting fabulous food, listening to great music are among the joys she holds dearest. He'll be tuned in, but too involved in his own complex business to spend long wandering with her among the roses.

He's hard to understand — the jigsaw puzzle with the missing pieces, the tiny thread you pulled and the whole suit unravelled.

But he doesn't mean anyone harm and neither the Taurus lady nor her Libra fellow will ever let sentiment come before practicality. They're both superbly loyal, serious, honest and blessed with sunny dispositions. Children and friends love them as much as they love each other.

This is a very good Match Up ranking 38th out of 144 possibilities.

For an analysis of any relationship, send two m/f birthdates, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 for a three-page or $3 for a six-page analysis with all 144 ratings to Match Ups, 460 Hillcrest Drive, Laguna Beach, Calif. 92651.

The ghost who came to dinner

By DEE WHITTINGTON

A posh restaurant that was once a city jail is haunted by the eerie, whispering ghost of a prisoner who hanged himself.

Employees of Chuck's Steak House in Concord, N.H., say they have heard their names whispered — but when they look the room is empty.

And investigators actually recorded a chillingly distinct voice and a gasp — a bizarre memento of a time long past when the old, two-story brick building housed prisoners instead of a fancy restaurant.

"There was no question about it — I definitely got the feeling of a presence in the building," said Norm Gauthier, one of the country's leading experts on haunted buildings and director of the Society for Psychic Research of New Hampshire.

Gauthier told The NEWS the ghost is that of a man who was arrested for a minor crime about 30 years ago and who hanged himself in his cell at 3:30 a.m. — the same moment a team of investigators with sophisticated recording equipment captured the sound of a gasp so many years later.

"So many employees had unusual feelings of a presence in the building and on separate occasions they said they heard their names being whispered," Gauthier said.

Word spread of the haunted building — where diners are served in gracious style in tiny private rooms that were once cells — and Gauthier spent a night in the old jail to investigate.

"We set up our recording equipment and we were very, very quiet, but while we all felt a presence we didn't think we had heard anything. We thought we had failed to communicate with the spirit," said the Manchester, N.H., ghost investigator.

"But when we listened to the tape later we were shocked — the voice was there and it was so clear.

"At about 2:20 a.m. the male voice whispered, 'in an hour.' Around 3:30 a.m., we heard what sounds like someone stepping off a stool and that sound is followed by a gasp."

It wasn't until the investigators listened to the tape that they began piecing together the voice of the ghost and the prisoner who hanged himself.

"I started checking with retired policemen, looking for a clue," Gauthier said. "Retired police captain Dick Powell told me about the man who had been arrested back in the late '40s or early '50s for drunk driving. He recalled that the man had been checked every hour and at 3 a.m. he was still alive when the officer on duty made his rounds to check the cells.

"But when they came back at 4, the man had hanged himself with a piece of clothing and he had stepped off the bunk bed fastened by hinges and chains to the wall.

"I don't think there's any question that his spirit lives on among the modern furniture and decor of this restaurant."

This is the old jail building that is now a swank restaurant. But Chuck's Steak House serves up something more than food — a whispering ghost roams its dining rooms.

'Hands down — It's a stickup!'

Things got sticky fast during a drugstore robbery — the crooks used super glue to make sure their victims stayed put!

Two bandits burst into the Waverly Drug Store just after closing time and held startled employees at gunpoint while they cleaned out the cash registers. Before they made their getaway, the thugs smeared the stunned victims' hands with one of those quick-drying miracle glues.

They then made the frightened employees put their palms on the floor.

One of the victims finally pulled loose — but it was too late — the duo was long gone.

Former agent tattles on boozing, troublesome, high-and-mighty stars

By KITTY MacNAB

Bette Davis was a pain-in-the-neck prima donna . . . Shelley Winters liked to drink with the guys between scenes of her play . . . Warren Beatty's need for attention made his leading lady quit.

These are some of the shocking memories of the famed Broadway agent Audrey Wood in her book "Represented by Audrey Wood" (Doubleday & Co., $15.95).

With her agent-husband William Liebling, Audrey helped start the careers of many of today's showbiz giants like Paul Newman, Marlon Brando, Yul Brynner, Lorne Greene and Tony Randall.

But she also reveals some of the shocking behind-the-scenes stories of Broadway involving troublesome stars, booze and drugs.

Bette Davis may be one of movieland's greatest stars, but she was a real pain when she signed on to star in Tennessee Williams' "Night of the Iguana" on Broadway in 1961.

The problem, says Audrey, is that Bette's role of a boozing hotel manager was a supporting role to those of Patrick O'Neal and the English actress Margaret Leighton.

The play was first scheduled for an out-of-town tour. All went well the opening night in Rochester, N.Y., and Bette seemed happy at the cast party afterwards.

But the next day, the theater manager called Audrey to tell her that Bette had been taken by ambulance to a hospital.

"It seemed our costar had fallen backstage the night before," recalls Audrey. "Why this hadn't come out sooner, or why she attended the party afterward, (apparently) in good physical shape, I cannot explain."

Both Saturday performances were sold out to fans wanting to see Bette, but the show went on with an understudy.

When the play moved on to Cleveland, Ohio, Bette refused to take a plane or train so the producers had to hire a limousine to take her.

Shelley Winters liked a little nip between scenes.

Pep drug sent Patrick O'Neal into a table-throwing fit.

In Chicago, Bette began bickering with the play's director and at one point ordered him to leave the theater.

One minute she would refuse to appear for a performance and then she'd change her mind. It got so bad that customers would ask the ticket sellers:

"Is Miss Davis going to be playing in this performance?" recalls Audrey.

When Bette walked out on the stage on her opening night on Broadway, the entire audience stood and cheered as the temperamental star raised her hands like a victorious prizefighter.

Bette was so unhappy with her role that producers agreed to release her and hired Shelley Winters.

But Shelley soon became bored with the long waits backstage between her scenes. Audrey discovered that Shelley would slip out of the theater in makeup and costume and flit across the street to a bar where she gulped a few drinks with the guys before rushing back to do her next scene.

Another big problem was "Dr. Feelgood," a well-known doctor who treated actors and playwrights with pep drug shots to help relieve their depressive moods.

At a lunch with Patrick O'Neal, Audrey remembers the mild-mannered actor suddenly bursting into a white-hot rage over nothing.

"He literally blew his top," she said, "took a very large table . . . flung it into the air, with china and glassware flying everywhere.

"Later on, we found out O'Neal was being treated by Dr. Max Jacobson, the same 'Dr. Feelgood' who had begun providing Tennessee Williams with those notorious shots designed to induce instant mood uplift," said Audrey.

Hollywood romeo Warren Beatty was not as sure of his acting abilities early in his career as he was of his manly charms.

Warren was 21 and just out of acting school when he was signed to star in the play "A Loss of Roses" in 1959 with then Broadway star Shirley Booth who became TV's "Hazel."

"He was dreadfully uncertain of himself," recalls Audrey.

Warren was so insecure about his role that he kept interrupting rehearsals, asking long, boring questions and dominating the director's time.

Romeo Warren Beatty was terribly insecure as an actor.

Bette Davis ordered the play's director to leave.

Finally, Shirley got fed up with the situation.

She was the star, but the director was paying all his attention to upstart Warren. Things came to a head. Shirley quit and a new actress had to be found to replace her.

Unknown actor Marlon Brando became a superstar due to his electrifying performances on Broadway in "A Streetcar Named Desire" — but he also turned sulky and pouty over the play's huge success, recalls Audrey.

Marlon was ambitious and eager to become a movie star. His appearance in "Streetcar" was so impressive that Hollywood producers were soon begging at his door.

But Marlon had signed a run-of-the-play contract and the more raves the play got, the longer it would run.

For two years, Marlon pouted as his performance and the play wowed New York audiences, keeping him from the movie stardom he desired and later achieved.
